Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, the Department of Justice awards grants to schools to improve school safety. Currently DOJ awards grants to fund eligible expenditures such as training; safety-related upgrades to buildings, equipment, and facilities; and expenditures to provide blueprints or mapping data to law enforcement.

This bill requires DOJ to award grants of up to $325,000 to school boards or governing bodies of private schools to acquire proactive metallic and nonmetallic threat detection equipment and software and provides $4,000,000 in the 2023-25 fiscal biennium for the grants. Under the bill, the school board or governing body must apply for the grants jointly with a local law enforcement agency. To be eligible for a grant, an applicant must demonstrate that a school covered by the application had a firearm-related incident that occurred on or after January 1, 2014. The bill also requires a grant recipient to provide matching funds that equal at least 25 percent of the grant.

Under the bill, DOJ is limited to awarding grants to no more than 10 applicants per fiscal biennium. If more than 10 applicants are qualified, the bill requires DOJ to consider geographic variation and the order of applications received when awarding the grants.
