Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Current law limits the increase in the total amount of revenue that a school district may receive from general school aids and property taxes in a school year to $206 per pupil. Several exceptions to the revenue limit exist. For example, if a school district increases the services that it provides by adding responsibility for providing a service transferred to it from another governmental unit, its revenue limit is increased by the cost of that service.

This bill provides that if the number of pupils enrolled in the school district in the current school year is less than the number enrolled in the previous school year, the percentage increase in the school district's revenue limit over the previous school year is less than 3.8%, and the school district's contract with its professional employes provides an increase in total compensation and fringe benefit costs for all such employes of no more than 3.8% in the current school year, the school district's revenue limit in the current school year is increased by the amount necessary to cover the costs of its contract with the professional employes in the current school year that would otherwise exceed its revenue limit.

For further information see the state and local fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
