Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Currently, the state minimum wage law requires that employers pay a living wage to their employees. Under that law, the department of workforce development (DWD) has provided, by rule, minimum hourly wages for various classes of employment as follows:

SENATE BILL 193*Employees Generally*

Opportunity employees (employees under 20 years of age in their first 90 days of employment with a particular employer)	$4.25
Nonopportunity employees	$5.15

Tipped Employees

Opportunity employees	$2.13
Nonopportunity employees	$2.33

Agricultural Employees

Adults	$4.05
Minors	$3.70

Also under current law, DWD has provided, by rule, separate minimum wage rates for counselors at recreational or educational camps, employees who perform less than 15 hours a week of casual employment, such as baby sitting or lawn mowing, in and around an employer's home, employees hired as personal companions for elderly or disabled individuals, golf caddies, students employed at independent colleges and universities, student learners employed in bona fide school training programs and individuals who are unable to earn the standard minimum wage because of a disability.

Under this bill, DWD will continue to provide, by rule, separate minimum wage rates for camp counselors, persons in casual employment, personal companions, golf caddies, independent college and university students, student learners and those who are unable to earn the standard minimum wage because of a disability. For other employees, however, including agricultural employees and tipped employees, the bill provides the method by which DWD must calculate the minimum wage.

Specifically, for employees generally, that is, employees who are not agricultural employees, tipped employees, opportunity employees (defined in the bill as employees under 20 years of age who have been employed for a cumulative total of 30 calendar days or less within the preceding three-year period) or employees for whom DWD provides a separate minimum wage, the bill directs DWD to calculate the minimum hourly wage by dividing the federal poverty line for a family of three persons (federal poverty line) (currently $13,650 per year), by 2,080 (52 weeks in a year times 40 hours per week), and rounding the quotient to the nearest multiple of five cents. Accordingly, at the current federal poverty line, this bill raises the minimum wage for employees generally to $6.55 per hour.

For other employees, the bill directs DWD to calculate the minimum hourly wage by multiplying the result obtained under the previous paragraph as follows:

1. For opportunity employees, by 92.9% and rounding the product to the nearest multiple of five cents, resulting in a minimum wage of $6.10 per hour when calculated based on the current federal poverty line.

SENATE BILL 193

2. For tipped employes who are not opportunity employes, by 54.8% and rounding the product to the nearest multiple of five cents, resulting in a minimum wage of $3.55 per hour when calculated based on the current poverty line.

3. For tipped employes who are opportunity employes, by 51.7% and rounding the product to the nearest multiple of five cents, resulting in a minimum wage of $3.40 per hour when calculated based on the current poverty line.

4. For agricultural employes 18 years of age or over, by 95.3% and rounding the product to the nearest multiple of five cents, resulting in a minimum wage of $6.25 per hour when calculated based on the current poverty line.

5. For agricultural employes under 18 years of age, by 87.0% and rounding the product to the nearest multiple of five cents, resulting in a minimum wage of $5.70 per hour when calculated based on the current poverty line.

The bill further requires DWD to revise the minimum wages specified above annually within 30 days after the federal department of health and human services publishes its annual revision of the poverty line.

Finally, current law requires DWD, in determining the living wage, to consider the effect that an increase in the living wage might have on the economy of this state, including the effect of such an increase on job creation, retention and expansion, on the availability of entry level jobs and on regional economic conditions within this state. This bill eliminates that requirement.

For further information see the state and local fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
