

1999 SENATE BILL 202

June 24, 1999 - Introduced by Senator BURKE, cosponsored by Representative BOCK. Referred to Committee on Judiciary and Consumer Affairs.

1 AN ACT to amend 801.07 (5) of the statutes; relating to: jurisdiction in divorces.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

In Mendez v. Hernandez-Mendez, 213 Wis. 2d 217 (Wis. App. 1997), the court of appeals held that although the petitioner in the divorce action commenced in Wisconsin obtained personal service on the respondent who lived in Mexico, the court lacked the grounds for personal jurisdiction. The court found that the respondent had never been in Wisconsin and had no contacts with Wisconsin, so there were no minimum contacts necessary to obtain personal jurisdiction over the respondent, and dismissed the petition for a divorce.

This bill overrules that decision by providing that a court may determine if a divorce may be granted between parties when the respondent has been properly served without requiring the court to have grounds for personal jurisdiction over the respondent.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

2 SECTION 1. 801.07 (5) of the statutes is amended to read:
