March 7, 2013 - Introduced by Senators GROTHMAN and RISSER, cosponsored by Representatives KESTELL, DOYLE, BERNIER, KLEEFISCH, LEMAHIEU, STRACHOTA, T. LARSON, RICHARDS and C. TAYLOR. Referred to Committee on Judiciary and Labor.

1 AN ACT to renumber and amend 767.56 and 767.58 (1); to amend 766.70 (4)
2 (a) 3. and 767.59 (3); and to create 767.56 (2c) and 767.58 (1) (c) of the statutes;
3 relating to: termination of maintenance upon the payee's or payer's death and 4 notices relating to maintenance.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, in an action for divorce, annulment, or legal separation, a court may order one party (payer) to pay maintenance (formerly known as alimony) to the other party (payee) for a limited or indefinite length of time. Current law also provides that, if a payee of maintenance remarries, the court must vacate the maintenance order upon the application of the payer and proof of the payee's remarriage.

This bill provides that, when a court orders maintenance or family support (a combination of child support and maintenance), the court must include in the order a requirement that the payee notify the court and the payer if the payee remarries. Under the bill, a court must vacate a maintenance order upon notice from the payee that he or she has remarried, in addition to vacating the order upon the application of the payer and proof of the payee's remarriage. The bill also provides that, unless already terminated for another reason, such as the payee's remarriage or the expiration of a limited time under an order, maintenance terminates upon the death of the payee or the payer, whichever occurs first. Under an Internal Revenue Service rule, maintenance must end at the payee's death in order for the payer to be able to deduct the payments from his or her gross income for income tax purposes.
