A subsequent commissioner of insurance is not foreclosed from refusing to renew the license of a foreign company to transact business in the state where its plan of its insurance is violative of the Wisconsin law, although a preceding commissioner granted a license under the same plan. Duel v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. 240 W 161, 1 NW (2d) 867, 2 NW (2d) 871.

The commissioner of insurance cannot require, as a condition of issuing a license to do business in this state, that a foreign mutual automobile liability insurance company refund to its Wisconsin policyholders so-called "life membership fees" previously exacted from them. As to the use of a name by an insurance corporation, see Independent Order of Foresters v. Insurance Commissioner, 96 W 94, 73 NW 326.

A statute authorizing the formation of corporations "all kinds of grain, fruits, hope and legumen" does not authorize the insurance of tobacco; but where the articles and by-laws of a mutual company were printed in such policy and stated that one of the purposes of the corporation was to insure tobacco, the policyholders took their policies charged with knowledge that the company proposed to insure tobacco and that they could not question its acts in that regard. Where the articles of incorporation were not signed at the end and there was no certificate of acknowledgment attached, but the incorporators placed their signatures in the body of the instrument and its preamble recited that they acknowledged and adopted the articles and they organized and commenced the transaction of a large business in the corporate name, the corporation was at least a de facto one. Gilman v. Druse, 111 W 400, 67 NW 557.

201.02 (3) (d), created by ch. 216, Laws 1935, requiring that the articles of incorporation of a mutual insurance company contain certain provisions relating to the liability of policyholders for losses and expenses incurred, did not apply to the articles of incorporation of a company organized prior to the enactment thereof. In re Wisconsin Mut. Ins. Co. 241 W 394, 6 NW (2d) 330.

A corporation organized for the purpose of paying sick, funeral and other similar benefits to those members contributing is an insurance organization. 12 Atty. Gen. 687.

Examination by the commissioner of insurance on the amendment of articles increasing capital stock of a corporation is limited to subscription to and payment for stock, expenses and assets. 12 Atty. Gen. 645.

An insurance corporation of this state organized upon the stock plan may issue preferred stock, if the preferred stock plan conforms to all requirements of law relating to the particular insurance corporation. Liabilities of preferred stock will be the same as liabilities of common stock, and corporate obligations to others than stockholders cannot be changed by preferred stock plan. 14 Atty. Gen. 594.

An association wherein members pay original membership fees and are assessed $1 upon the death of any member upon pain of forfeiture of membership, assessments so levied being paid to the named beneficiary of the deceased member, constitutes the business of insurance and such association is subject to the insurance laws of this state and must file its articles with the insurance commissioner. 20 Atty. Gen. 607.

The secretary of state may not accept articles of incorporation authorizing an insurance company to do business in this state without proof that the applicants pay the required amount of premium in cash without borrowing. 28 Atty. Gen. 447.

Articles authorizing an insurance company to write fire insurance do not authorize the writing of tempest and cyclone insurance. 7 Atty. Gen. 369.

An association formed by members of a religious organization, which, in consideration of fixed weekly payments, agrees to pay its members $5 weekly, and in case of death to pay members' heirs $425 for funeral expenses, is doing an insurance business, and is subject to all laws regulating the transaction of insurance business. 8 Atty. Gen. 95.

Whether the business being done is insurance is to be determined by the character of that business and not by what the parties denominate it. The insurance laws of this state apply to individuals, copartners and voluntary associations as well as to corporations. That the only method of enforcing payment of assessments is by depriving the delinquent of all benefits under his certificate does not prevent the agreement from being a contract of insurance. 10 Atty. Gen. 170.

A partnership may engage in the title guaranty business without complying with 180.19 to 180.35, Stats. 1923, and may use in its name the words “Title Guaranty Company.” The title guaranty business is insurance, and a partnership engaged therein is subject to the insurance laws and jurisdiction of the insurance department. 14 Atty. Gen. 171.

A contract whereby a seller agrees that articles sold on the installment plan, the obligation to pay being personal to the buyer, with a provision that in case of the buyer's death the remaining payments will be discharged and in case the buyer is unable to follow his usual vocations payments during such period will be discharged, is a contract of insurance within the meaning of 209.11, Stats. 1925. 15 Atty. Gen. 354.

An agreement whereby a company agrees to indemnify an owner of machinery against damage caused by the breakdown of machinery is an insurance contract, and the company entering into such contract is an insurance company within the meaning of 209.11, Stats. 1925. 15 Atty. Gen. 368.

A provision in a physician's and dentist's liability policy indemnifying against any claim or suit for damages, assault, slander, libel, undue familiarity, anaesthesia, hallucination, personal restraint, malicious prosecution, reprieve of property, or any other claim or suit for damages, alleging breach of professional duty, and further indemnifying against any claim or suit for return of professional fees is against public policy and therefore illegal. 18 Atty. Gen. 124.

Prepayment at a fixed yearly or monthly rate for future medical services does not constitute insurance. 55 Atty. Gen. 192.

A contract whereby a company, for an annual fee, furnishes a check or money order protection plan, and as a part thereof agrees to purchase at the face amount, but not to exceed $50, all dishonored checks and money orders cashed by a merchant during a year, is a contract of insurance. A similar contract whereby the company instead agrees to pursue collection of such dishonored checks or money orders, without charge, is likewise a contract of insurance. 39 Atty. Gen. 608.

Used-car "warranty" plans are insurance contracts and their issuance, as outlined, is engaging in the business of insurance. 47 Atty. Gen. 242.

A non-transferable certificate, issued through a motor vehicle dealer, by a distributor of a brand of lubricants to the purchaser of a new car, for repair or replacement of parts due to failure from exclusive use of products, is a warranty and therefore such issuance is not the business of insurance. 47 Atty. Gen. 269.

A contract entered into by a company actually engaged in television repair, for service or for service and parts for a stated price which bears a reasonable proportion to services rendered is not insurance. A company not in the service business, which contracts with others to provide service, offers indemnification, or covers only replacement of parts, is offering an insurance contract. 48 Atty. Gen. 148.

Proposed insurance which would indemnify an employee for his attorney fees upon his prosecution of a workmen's compensation claim is permissible under 201.04, Stats. 1967. 57 Atty. Gen. 87.

A fire insurance company, under provisions of the statutes, can issue coverage against loss by tornado, windstorm or cyclone, by attaching a rider to a standard fire insurance policy. 17 Atty. Gen. 105.

License fees for insurance companies are levied upon the business transacted and not upon the company. Companies transacting more than one class of business must pay the license fee for each class. 33 Atty. Gen. 474.

A nonassessable policy issued by a domestic mutual company while its surplus is maintained is exempt from assessments. 18 Atty. Gen. 716.

A nonassessable policy issued under this section may not be assessed when the surplus of the company falls below the amount required to be accumulated before issuance of such policies. (16 Atty. Gen. 716 confirmed.) 24 Atty. Gen. 66.

Domestic mutual companies may issue nonassessable policies only by complying with the provisions of this section. 26 Atty. Gen. 216.

Where an act incorporating a mutual company conferred upon the board of directors power to enact, repeal or amend bylaws not inconsistent with the provisions of the charter, that body had power to pass a bylaw providing that the certificate of membership should be rendered void in case the insured committed suicide. Hughes v. Wisconsin O. F. M. L. Ins. Co. 98 W 79, 75 NW 1915.

One whose certificate of membership in a mutual benefit company makes compliance with all the bylaws of the order then existing, or subsequently enacted, a condition precedent to participation in its benefits is bound by a bylaw adopted after his admission, providing that if any member should engage in any occupation therein prohibited, the certificate should be void. Lovett v. Modern Woodmen, 100 W 79, 75 NW 1912.

With respect to mutual insurance companies, other than town mutuals, the commissioner of insurance has no authority to approve or disapprove bylaws and must accept any bylaws or amendments thereto submitted to him for filing. 56 Atty. Gen. 71.
A contract by the promoters can be enforced even though it results in the payment of more than 15%—The remedies for violation of a stock company exacts from each insured, in addition to capital stock which is required not to become a member of the mutual company, but also the calculation of proper re­turnable so-called life membership fee for insurance which the company plans to give no other unearned premiums or any other reserve.

The term “risk” as used in fire insurance statutes has reference to such property as may be subject to one and the same fire hazard.

As to foreign corporations, capital stock re­quirements are determined by the character of business transacted by the company in any state.

Insurance companies writing fidelity insurance in addition to other kinds of insurance and new companies desiring to write insurance in addition to that of surety insurance must add requirements as determined by the character of business transacted by the company in any state.
sures is made difficult because of the nature of the right or privilege given to the insured for the membership fee, namely, to reinstate or continue his insurance so long as he lives and remains a desirable risk. The reserve statutes do not permit insurance companies to allocate a portion of the expenses of doing business for some sort of privilege given by a so-called membership fee and to designate the rest of the cost of insurance a "premium," since to do this would enable insurers to set their own reserve requirements by redenomination of "premium"; and the situation is not helped by so arranging the contract that the fee carries no insurance or other liability, since this destroys the statutory scheme for reserves quite as effectively as any other plan for splitting the premium. Vaudreuil L. Co. v. Aetna C. Ins. Co. 234 W 1, 331 NW 287.

201.19, Stats. 1825, is inapplicable to a provision in an indemnity policy invalidating a claim not filed within 3 months after the expiration of the terms covered in the policy. Mutual B. & S. Asso. v. American S. Co. 214 W 435, 253 NW 407.

A fraternal benefit society could lawfully acquire a home-office building containing more space than it immediately required for a home office, and could purchase a long-term leasehold for a home office, and it could do this by entering into a contract to purchase the stock of a corporation whose only asset and business was the ownership and operation of a building appropriate and suitable for a home-office building for the society, so that the society was entitled to specific performance of such contract, and particularity where the society had also entered into an agreement to purchase the fee. A long-term leasehold, at least a leasehold for more than 3 years, is "real estate" within the meaning of 201.24. Catholic Knights of Wisconsin v. Levy, 261 W 284, 53 NW (2d) 1.

While a domestic insurance company may invest its surplus funds in real estate mortgage under 201.25 and 219.01, Stats. 1877, it may not use its surplus funds as capital for conducting what is essentially a real estate
An insurance company may not acquire a controlling interest in a corporation engaged in a business which insurance companies are not authorized to conduct. 56 Atty. Gen. 62.

A bond given by a domestic insurance company which reinsured its risks in a foreign insurance company to protect such reinsurer and to its assignee for the benefit of creditors, may be resorted to by policyholders for whose benefit it was pledged and deposited with the state treasurer, notwithstanding the assignment made by the reinsurer was a forgery. Hughes v. Hunner, 91 W 116, 64 NW 373.

A contract insuring property within the state made by a foreign insurance company contrary to the restrictions imposed by 201.31 is void. Aetna Ins. Co. v. Harvey, 11 W 394. See 201.32.

An action cannot be maintained by a foreign insurance company upon a contract made with it, unless it has complied with the statute by making the statement of its condition required before entering into the contract. See 201.33. Wisconsin v. Philadelphia Indem. Co. 89 W 171, 61 NW 757.

A contract made under 201.27 is void if made with a for- eign insurance company in the hands of a receiver. 28 Atty. Gen. 1020.

Compliance with statutory conditions for transacting business in the state is not necessary in order to sue on a bond and mortgage given to a foreign company. Charter O. L. Ins. Co. v. Sawyer, 44 W 387.

A company organized under the laws of this state may make here a contract for the insurance of property owned by a corporation of this state the situs of which is in another state, notwithstanding such company is not authorized to do business in the state where such property is situated. Seaman's v. Knapp-Stout & Co. 89 W 171, 61 NW 757.

A company organized under the laws of this state may make here a contract for the insurance of property owned by a corporation of this state the situs of which is in another state, notwithstanding such company is not authorized to do business in the state where such property is situated. Seaman's v. Knapp-Stout & Co. 89 W 171, 61 NW 757.

A contract insuring property within this state made without the state by a foreign company which has not complied with secs. 1915-1919, R. S. 1878, is void, 201.27, and no action on such contract to recover an assessment made against the injured by such company can be maintained in the courts of this state. Rose v. Kimberly & Clark Co. 69 W 545, 52 NW 539.

A foreign insurance company which does not comply with the requirements of the law in regard to writing insurance in Wisconsin cannot use that fact to avoid liability upon a policy written by it upon the life of a resi-
A state may not, in imposing conditions upon the privilege of a foreign corporation's doing business in the state, exact from it a waiver of the exercise of its constitutional right to resort to the federal courts, or thereafter withdraw the privilege of doing business because of its exercise of such right, whether waived in advance or not. State ex rel. Aetna Ins. Co. v. Fowler, 196 W 451, 220 NW 534.

A receiver of an insolvent foreign insurance company cannot bring suits upon its policies in the courts of Wisconsin against its citizens. 1904 Atty. Gen. 168.

The insurance commissioner should treat a summons on a foreign nonlicensed insurance company in the same manner that he treats summons on foreign licensed insurance companies. 4 Atty. Gen. 745.

A foreign insurance company joining money on real estate in Wisconsin is not taking risks or transacting any business of insurance in this state. 11 Atty. Gen. 490.

A life and accident insurance company, incorporated as an association in Nebraska, which satisfies solvency and expense requirements imposed by this state upon domestic mutual insurance companies, may be licensed to transact business in Wisconsin. Failure to issue such license places the director of insurance of Nebraska in position to invoke the retaliatory insurance law. 4 Atty. Gen. 745.

The insurance commissioner can refuse a license, to do health and accident insurance business, to a foreign corporation with capital stock of $100,000 doing life, health and accident insurance business in its own state, if he cannot determine that because of that practice people of this state will not be jeopardized by dealing with such corporation. 16 Atty. Gen. 529.

The insurance commissioner can refuse a license to an Illinois mutual insurance company which issues nonassessable policies to citizens of Illinois and assessable policies to citizens of Wisconsin see 16 Atty. Gen. 529.

The insurance commissioner has the right to refuse admission of a nonresident insurance company to do insurance business in Wisconsin. 16 Atty. Gen. 459.

On the right of the insurance commissioner to refuse a license to an Illinois mutual insurance company which issues nonassessable policies to citizens of Illinois and assessable policies to citizens of Wisconsin see 16 Atty. Gen. 459.

The insurance commissioner can refuse a license to do health and accident insurance business, to a foreign corporation with capital stock of $100,000 doing life, health and accident insurance business in its own state, if he cannot determine that because of that practice people of this state will not be jeopardized by dealing with such corporation. 16 Atty. Gen. 459.

The insurance commissioner can refuse a license to do health and accident insurance business, to a foreign corporation with capital stock of $100,000 doing life, health and accident insurance business in its own state, if he cannot determine that because of that practice people of this state will not be jeopardized by dealing with such corporation. 16 Atty. Gen. 529.

The insurance commissioner can refuse a license which satisfies solvency and expense requirements imposed by this state upon domestic mutual insurance companies. 4 Atty. Gen. 745.

Foreign corporations may transact in this state any business authorized by their charters and not inconsistent with the laws and policy of the state. Continental Ins. Co. v. Cross, 18 W 109.

Under the act regulating mutual benefit companies (ch. 418, Laws 1891) a foreign company which complied with its terms was entitled as a matter of right to a license to do business here. State ex rel. Coeart M. B. Assn. v. Root, 33 W 667, 54 NW 38.

201.34 (1) vests in the commissioner of insurance the power and duty to refuse to issue or to relicense an insurance company in any case where it has failed to comply with all provisions of the law, and particularly where its practices and methods are definitely illegal under the statutes. Dual v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. 240 W 161, 1 NW (2d) 867, 2 NW (2d) 871.

A foreign insurance company has no right to conduct insurance business in this state until it is licensed as provided by 201.40, Stats. 1925. When so licensed, that license shall be renewed from year to year when the insurance commissioner determines facts and conditions exist as prescribed by the statute for renewal; he has no discretionary power to refuse a license if he finds such facts and conditions exist. 16 Atty. Gen. 167.

The insurance commissioner has the right to refuse admission of a nonresident insurance company to do insurance business in Wisconsin. 16 Atty. Gen. 459.

The insurance commissioner can refuse a license to an Illinois mutual insurance company which issues nonassessable policies to citizens of Illinois and assessable policies to citizens of Wisconsin see 16 Atty. Gen. 529.

There is no statutory authority for admission of interinsurance organizations of other states to transact the business of insurance in this state. 16 Atty. Gen. 635.

Upon compliance with the statutory requirements applicable to interinsurance or reciprocal insurance exchanges having their principal offices outside this state are entitled to do business in Wisconsin. 16 Atty. Gen. 705.

The fact that a policy of insurance recited that the exchange insurer was created pursuant to 201.39 does not change the nature of the obligation assumed by the policy. Ducommun v. Strong, 103 W 170, 112 NW 260.

A corporation to act as an agent for an insurance company may be formed. 9 Atty. Gen. 394.

The exception or limitation in 201.39 (1) relates only to fire insurance contracts and business, so that if a reciprocal insurance company issues or exchanges policies or contracts of indemnity for loss or damage on account of accident or injury to persons or property, such contracts are required to contain the provisions specified in this section. 16 Atty. Gen. 537.

There is no statutory authority for admission of interinsurance organizations of other states to transact the business of insurance in this state. 16 Atty. Gen. 635.

Upon compliance with the statutory requirements applicable to interinsurance or reciprocal insurance exchanges having their principal offices outside this state are entitled to do business in Wisconsin. 16 Atty. Gen. 705.

an agreement for rebate of the premiums, it is valid notwithstanding the provisions of sec. 19550, Stats. 1898, and the insured cannot recove

A life insurance policy which allows an election to be made any time within 6 months after failure to pay the premium, as to whether the policy will be continued for a term or a paid-up policy substituted is discriminatory, if construed as allowing a binding election at any time within the 6 months. Clappenbach v. New York L. Ins. Co. 136 W 626, 118 NW 245.

Sec. 19550, Stats. 1898, was violated by a contract appointing a lawyer as local adviser of a life insurance company and providing that in consideration of his furnishing upon "written request" the company with information as to the character and habits of applicants for insurance, certain payments would be made to him annually on the premium date of a "20-payment life advance dividend local adv. policy of insurance" for $5,000 issued to him as part of the same transaction. Such transaction constituted discrimination between insurers of the same class and a rebate of a part of the premium. Richmond v. Conservative L. Ins. Co. 196 W 334, 134 NW 266.

A life insurance company, organized under ch. 416, Laws 1891, ch. 175, Laws 1895, and ch. 270, Laws 1899, is bound, on maturity of a policy, to perform it according to its terms, although the stipulated premiums were insufficient to mature the policy, and it is claimed that payment would discriminate in favor of the insured, since the insured and the insurer are the only parties to the action. Hall v. Wisconsin L. Ins. Co. 188 W 507, 201 NW 732.

An agreement of an insurance agent to waive his commission on a fire policy was no more than a "reduction of the premium," and his agreement to remit to the company an amount which he owed to the insured was no more than a "special favor or advantage" not specified in the policy, so that, under 201.53 (2) and (9), Stats. 1939, the policy was not rendered void by such agreements, but the insured could recover only such portion of a loss under the policy as the premium actually paid bore to the premium payable. Fry v. Integrity Mut. Ins. Co. 287 W 392, 296 NW 603.

A contention that the agent, in canceling a policy "flat," that is, charging no premium for the period of 2 weeks between the date of its issuance by the agent and the date of its cancellation by him at the request of the insurance company, gave a rebate to the insured, in violation of 201.53 (2), and that the cancellation was therefore ineffective as against succeeding companies on the risk, is without merit. Homeland Ins. Co. v. Carolina Ins. Co. 261 W 370, 53 NW (2d) 702.

Advertisements of an insurance agent in newspapers that he would give a half ton of coal to each person taking out a policy were in violation of sec. 19550, Stats. 1898, whether or not he actually carried out his promise, and justified a cancellation of his license; but they did not justify a refusal to grant him a new license as agent of another company. 1904 Atty. Gen. 65.

Annuity contracts, which in case of a lapse grant "a paid up annuity" in proportion to the number of premiums paid, involve discriminations contrary to the provisions of sec. 19550, Stats. 1919. The form of such contracts is subject to the approval of the commissioner of insurance. 9 Atty. Gen. 74.

A co-operative insurance agency organized and operating under co-operative statutes (ch. 189, Stats. 1937) does not thereby violate the antirebating provisions of 201.53, Stats. 1939, prohibiting rebates. 28 Atty. Gen. 261.

Deduction of agents' commissions upon the sale of insurance on property of delinquent building and loan associations by insurance agencies constitutes a violation of 201.53, Stats. 1939, prohibiting rebates. 20 Atty. Gen. 374.

Insurance companies, who are also licensed securities agents, through licensed agents may sell stock to policyholders or insurance to stockholders if not conditioned on the issuance of a policy. 52 Atty. Gen. 185.

201.54 History: Stats. 1931 s. 207.01 (2) (f); 1932 c. 497 s. 73; Stats. 1933 s. 201.54.

The license fees required by sec. 1926, Stats. 1898, to be paid to municipalities are disallowed by the statute because of its contract with the town for the fire department outside of its boundaries the city was not liable for the loss of a farmer's property because of negligence on the part of the city's firemen, responding to a call, in not remaining at the fire until it was definitely determined that the fire had been extinguished, nor was the city liable apart from the statute because of its contract with the town or because of deriving benefit thereunder. Eulrich v. Clintonville, 238 W 481, 239 NW 478.

Where a city contracted with a town to provide fire protection and the services of its fire department outside of its boundaries the city was not liable for the loss of a farmer's property because of negligence on the part of the city's firemen, responding to a call, in not remaining at the fire until it was definitely determined that the fire had been extinguished, nor was the city liable apart from the statute because of its contract with the town or because of deriving benefit thereunder. Eulrich v. Clintonville, 238 W 481, 239 NW 478.

The 2% of the premiums paid under sec. 1926, Stats. 1898, must be paid into the municipal treasury and used to support its fire department. The money so received cannot be turned into the poor fund. 1902 Atty. Gen. 134.

The license fees required by sec. 1928, Stats. 1898, to be paid to municipalities are obligations distinct from the percentage of the premium required by 70.20 to be paid to the state. The payment of one cannot be credited as part of the other. 1904 Atty. Gen. 149.

Sumn accruing to the commissioner of insurance by reason of failure of towns, cities and villages to comply with 191.29 and 201.59, Stats. 1927, may be used for conducting investigations as provided in 201.59 (4) (c). 1904 Atty. Gen. 149.

The actual cost of fire inspections made by the industrial commission under 201.59 (4) (c), Stats. 1931, is to be paid from fire department dues accumulated under that subsection, and the balance of such funds may be used for conducting investigation of fires, under 200.18. 31 Atty. Gen. 230.

A town insurance company, organized under ch. 103, Laws 1872, which has been compelled to pay a loss occasioned through the negligence of a third party, may take an assignment from the insured of the whole claim for damages, exceeding the amount it paid, and recover the whole sum from such party. Husky v. Ins. Co. v. Chicago, M. & St. L. R. Co. 66 W 88, 28 NW 94. A town mutual fire insurance company created under this chapter cannot convert itself into domestic mutual fire insurance company by amending its articles at an annual meeting. 24 Atty. Gen. 253.

The commissioner of insurance may disapprove only such bylaws of town mutual insurance companies as fail to meet the legislative standard, i.e., those which are inconsistent with or a waiver of the provisions or conditions of the standard town mutual policy. 56 Atty. Gen. 71.

A policy issued under sec. 313, Stats. 1939, and covering hay and grain upon the premises does not cover hay and grain upon premises rented by the insured after the taking out of a policy. Brandt v. Berlin F. M. F. & B. V. Co. 108 W 231, 84 NW 140.

In an action to recover on a mutual fire policy covering farm buildings, the operation of a cooperator in a farm building to prepare necessary feed in operating a hog farm did not constitute a manufacturing process, and did not prevent recovery on the policy.
