Joint Survey Committee on Debt Management
State Debt Policies

Introduction

The Joint Survey Committee on Debt Management is directed pursuant to s.13.49(5)(h), Stats., to "prepare such long-term financial plans relating to state debt, revenue obligations and other indirect debt as the committee determines may be in the best interests of the state."

Background

Prior to January 1, 1970, Wisconsin did not issue any general obligation bonds. An amendment to art. VIII, s. 7 of the Wisconsin Constitution, was approved by the voters in April 1969 to permit the state to contract public debt.

JOURNAL OF THE SENATE [May 21, 1981]

In a period of slightly less than 11 years, January 1, 1970, to October 31, 1980, the State of Wisconsin has issued in excess of $2.1 billion in general obligation bonds. It has issued an additional $300 million in direct revenue obligations. In excess of $625 million has been issued by the Wisconsin Housing Finance Authority and Wisconsin Health Facilities Authority. (No revenue obligations have yet been issued by the Wisconsin Solid Waste Recycling Authority.) Of the total issued in that period (in excess of $3 billion), $2.86 billion remains outstanding as of October 31, 1980; of this amount, $1.7 billion is in general obligation bonds.

Article VIII, section 7, also establishes a limit on the debt contracted in any calendar year ($3/4$ ths of 1% of the aggregate value of all taxable property in the state) and a cumulative limit (5% of the aggregate value of all taxable property in the state) on the state debt.

In less than 11 years, the amount outstanding on the state's general obligations has reached 31.4% of the constitutional limitation that is currently estimated to be in excess of $5.4 billion.

Presently, there are three categories of debt and revenue obligations that are reviewed by the Committee:

1. General obligation bonds of the state.
2. Revenue obligations of the state.
3. Revenue obligations of the independent authorities.

However, these general and revenue obligations can also be placed in categories according to the source of the revenues used to repay the obligations and whether there is a state direct or contingent liability to repay the obligations. These categories are:

1. Those obligations that are supported out of the state general fund through tax revenues.
2. Those obligations that are self-supporting, i.e., repaid by proceeds from loan repayments or other revenues but for which the state has either a direct obligation or a moral obligation to provide funds should the revenues be insufficient.
3. Revenue obligations which are totally self-supporting, for which there is no state direct or moral obligation.

The first category includes obligations for some University of Wisconsin academic facilities, Department of Natural Resources recreation land programs, point source pollution abatement, transportation and mental health, corrections and state office facilities.

The second category includes the obligations of the Housing Finance Authority and the Solid Waste Recycling Authority for which there is a state "moral obligation," the state general obligation bond program for veterans loans, University of Wisconsin self-amortizing facilities and State Fair Park facilities.

The third category includes revenue obligations for the state student loan program, revenue obligations for the veterans mortgage loan program and the revenue obligations of the Health Facilities Authority for which there are no state moral obligations or direct obligations.

Policies

The Joint Survey Committee on Debt Management has determined that the policies described in this section should ensure that general obligation bonding is used with care in order to maintain the state's traditionally high credit standing and rating.

The Joint Committee believes that three actions are essential to the management of state debt:

1. At the beginning of each session of the Legislature, the Joint Committee should recommend a maximum limit on the amount of general obligation bonding that is to be used during the next state fiscal biennium.

2. At the beginning of each session of the Legislature, all state agencies and programs which utilize general obligation bonds should provide to the Joint Committee a complete explanation of the needs of that program or agency for state debt during the next state fiscal biennium. In addition, state agencies or individual Legislators who intend to offer any new proposals that will utilize general obligation bonds are encouraged to submit these proposals to the Joint Committee at the commencement of the session of the Legislature or as soon as possible thereafter. These actions will ensure that the Committee is able to review all proposed uses of state general obligation bonds at the same time.

3. Appropriate criteria must be established for reviewing each request for state general obligation bonds.

General obligation bonds increase the future tax liabilities of the state and thus should be used cautiously and only when other sources of revenue are not appropriate. The use of revenue obligations that are not state debt, under subch. II, of ch. 18, Stats., is encouraged whenever possible.

The Joint Committee, after reviewing the current status of state general and revenue obligations and revenue obligations of the three independent authorities, based on the current state of the economy, believes that it is prudent to issue no more than $200 million per fiscal year of state general obligations.

In reviewing proposed uses of state general obligations bonds, the Joint Committee will use the following criteria:

JOURNAL OF THE SENATE [May 21, 1981]

1. Does the program involve construction or maintenance of state-owned capital facilities which benefit all citizens (e.g., state buildings and roads)?

2. Will the revenue be used for capital costs associated with facilities that may not be utilized or owned by the state, but which have a statewide benefit to all citizens (e.g., water pollution abatement programs and transportation program)?

3. If the revenue is used for the benefit of categories of individuals, does the benefit to the general welfare of all citizens outweigh the socio-economic benefit to those individuals (e.g., farmers, senior citizens, students and veterans)?

4. Is the issuance of state general obligation bonds necessary to fund the program or is there another vehicle which might be more appropriate or preferable to fund the program (e.g., state tax revenues, program revenue, revenue obligations issued by the state or revenue obligations issued by one of the three independent authorities (Housing Finance, Solid Waste Recyclin authority)?

The Joint Committee unanimously adopted this report on March 10, 1981.

The question was: Adoption of senate substitute amendment 1?

Senator Bablitch raised the point of order that senate substitute amendment 1 was not germane.

It is the chair's opinion that Senate Rule 50(5) is the prevailing rule as pointed out by both Senator Bablitch and Senator Hanaway.

The rule in part states that an amendment amending a section repealed by the original proposal is not germane.

Senate substitute amendment 1 attempts to amend a section repealed by Assembly Bill 320. The substitute amendment is attempting to change the intent of the bill and is therefore not germane.

Therefore, the point of order is well taken.

Senate amendment 1 offered by Senator Hanaway.
