FINDING OF EMERGENCY

The Department of Regulation and Licensing finds that an emergency exists and that the attached rule is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, safety or welfare. A statement of the facts constituting the emergency is:

SECTION 3 of 1997 Wisconsin Act 81 states that the department is not required to make a finding of emergency; however, the department offers the following information relating to the promulgation of these rules as emergency rules. The new regulation of home inspectors was created in 1997 Wisconsin Act 81. The Act was published on April 27, 1998; however, the Act created an effective date for the new regulation as being the first day of the 7th month beginning after publication. That date is November 1, 1998. Nonstatutory provisions in SECTION 3 of the Act require the department to create a committee, consisting of 6 home inspectors and 3 public members, to advise the department in promulgating rules. This section also authorizes the department to promulgate rules as emergency rules before November 1, 1998. The advisory committee was formed and met 7 times to develop the administrative rules which must be in effect on the effective date of the new regulation.

Pursuant to s. 227.24 (1) (c), Stats., the emergency rules adopted in this order shall take effect on November 1, 1998.

RE: Request for Extension of Emergency Rules

Dear Senator Robson and Representative Grothman:

I am writing to request an extension of an emergency rule that is now in effect. This extension is requested pursuant to nonstatutory provisions in SECTION 3 of 1997 Wisconsin Act 81. The effective period of the emergency rule will terminate on March 31, 1999. We request an extension of 60 days.

On October 27, 1998, Marlene A. Cummings, Secretary of the Department of Regulation and Licensing, issued an Order Adopting Emergency Rules pursuant to 1997 Wisconsin Act 81. Act 81 created the first-time regulation of home inspectors in the state of Wisconsin. The new regulation created by 1997 Wisconsin Act 81 as well as the emergency rule became effective on November 1, 1998. Beginning on this date persons who conducted home inspections in Wisconsin were required to register with the department and follow standards for conducting such inspections. These standards are briefly enumerated in 1997 Wisconsin Act 81 and are more thoroughly spelled out in the rules. The rules also establish policies relating to applications for registration, the registration examination and continuing education.

After promulgating an emergency rule, the department immediately commenced rulemaking in accordance with the non-emergency rulemaking procedures. A hearing was conducted on December 17, 1998. The public was given approximately 2 weeks to file written comments. Several significant concerns were raised at the hearing and in correspondence received by the department. The department subsequently amended the rule draft and sent it to the Home Inspector Advisory Committee for its review. The department is now ready to submit the rule proposal to the legislative committees. Therefore, it is clear that the department is not able to promulgate a permanent rule prior to the expiration of the emergency rule.

ORDER

An order of the Department of Regulation and Licensing to create chapters RL 131 to 135, relating to the registration and regulation of home inspectors.

Analysis prepared by the Department of Regulation and Licensing.

Statutes authorizing promulgation: ss. 227.11 (2), Stats., and s. 440.974, Stats., as created by 1997 Wisconsin Act 81.

Statutes interpreted: ss. 440.972, 440.973, 440.975, 440.978 and 440.999, Stats.

This proposed rule-making order creates new rules, relating to 1997 Wisconsin Act 81, which was published on April 27, 1998, and which initiates the regulation of home inspectors in Wisconsin on November 1, 1998.

These rules create 5 chapters, numbering from RL 131 to RL 135, relating to authority and definitions, applications, examinations, standards of practice, and continuing education. These rules were developed with the advice and counsel of an advisory committee, created pursuant to 1997 Wisconsin Act 81 and consisting of 6 home inspectors and 3 public members.

Chapter RL 131 states the authority for the rules and defines 29 terms which are used in chapters RL 131 to 135.

Chapter RL 132 contains 3 sections which state the requirements for registration as a home inspector and these sections designate what requirements must be satisfied to be registered, depending on the date of application and the availability of one or other part of a registration examination, as specified in Chapter RL 133. Chapter RL 132 also states the requirements for renewing a credential before and after the renewal date. In both cases, satisfaction of continuing education is required. Chapter RL 132 also states that registration of an applicant may be denied for fraud or misrepresentation in the application or for any of the grounds under s. 440.978, Stats., for which the department may discipline a registrant.

Chapter RL 133 creates the examination requirements referenced in chapter RL 132. The provisions create a two-part examination or, at a certain point in time, a single-part examination which combines Part I and Part II. Part I of the examination covers the Wisconsin statutes relating to home inspections. Part II will cover administrative rules and other principles and procedures relating to the practice of home inspection. Since Part II will not be available before January 1, 2000, applicants will not be required to complete Part II before that date; however, they must complete Part II in order to renew their credential in a timely manner in the fall of 2000. This chapter also creates sections relating to the passing grade on the examination and procedures for applicants to review their examination.

Chapter RL 134 creates standards of practice for conducting and reporting on home inspections. This chapter has provisions relating to general requirements and provisions relating to the inspection of mechanical and structural components, including foundations, columns, flooring systems, roofs, exteriors, plumbing systems, electrical systems, interiors, heating systems, central air conditioning, and insulation and ventilation. This chapter also requires a home inspector to give a client a written report following an inspection. The rules specify what must be stated in the report and what is not required to be stated in the report.

Chapter RL 135 contains provisions relating to continuing education. The rules define "hour" as being 50 minutes of classroom instruction. The rules require 40 hours of continuing education every two years, as required by 1997 Wisconsin Act 81. The rules contain provisions relating to instructors receiving approval for classes they instruct, an extension of time to complete the required education for health reasons or active duty in the military service, requirements that home inspectors receive a certificate of completion from a program provider, requirements that approved courses shall relate to the general subject of home inspections, and a prohibition against a person being approved to instruct continuing education courses while a disciplinary action is in effect against the person.

FINDING OF EMERGENCY

The Department of Regulation and Licensing finds that an emergency exists and that the attached rule is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, safety or welfare. A statement of the facts constituting the emergency is:

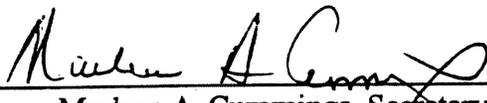

SECTION 3 of 1997 Wisconsin Act 81 states that the department is not required to make a finding of emergency; however, the department offers the following information relating to the promulgation of these rules as emergency rules. The new regulation of home inspectors was created in 1997 Wisconsin Act 81. The Act was published on April 27, 1998; however, the Act created an effective date for the new regulation as being the first day of the 7th month beginning after publication. That date is November 1, 1998. Nonstatutory provisions in SECTION 3 of the Act require the department to create a committee, consisting of 6 home inspectors and 3 public members, to advise the department in promulgating rules. This section also authorizes the department to promulgate rules as emergency rules before November 1, 1998. The advisory committee was formed and met 7 times to develop the administrative rules which must be in effect on the effective date of the new regulation.

Pursuant to s. 227.24 (1) (c), Stats., the emergency rules adopted in this order shall take effect on November 1, 1998.
