Dear Chairperson Senator Moen and Members of the Committee on Health,
Utilities, Veterans and Military Affairs:

Governor McCallum has nominated me to serve as a member of the University of Wisconsin Hospital and Clinics Authority Board of Directors. It is my understanding that my nomination has been referred to your Committee.

Several of you were members of the Committee when I appeared before the Committee approximately three years ago and those members would be familiar with my qualifications and my interests.

It is my understanding that my resume was forwarded to each of you and I want you to know that I'm sincerely interested in serving on the University Hospital Board. I have been an active member of the Board, as my resume shows, serving on the Executive Committee, the Finance Committee and as Vice Chair of the Board.

I know that your time is very valuable and I certainly do not want to impose on what probably is a very hectic time schedule for you at the present time. However, if any of you should desire a meeting with me prior to the Committee hearing, I would certainly give your

Dear Ms. Trimborn:

The Attorney General's office has received a complaint regarding an advertisement on the internet for the recruitment of replacement nurses at a Madison hospital, effective May 1. Enclosed are copies of web pages from the site (www.nursebridge.com). The information provided to us further indicates that this recruitment is being done on behalf of U.W. Hospital and Clinics (UWHC).

Section 103.545 of the Wisconsin Statutes prohibits an employer from hiring professional strikebreakers, i.e., persons who at least twice during the previous 12-month period have accepted employment for the duration of a strike or a lockout in place of employees who are involved in a strike or lockout. Furthermore, sec. 103.545 (2) prohibits Wisconsin employers from contracting with another to employ a professional strikebreaker. Enclosed is a copy of the statute.

We are writing to caution you about recruitment activities which could violate these statutes. Please provide us with information about the relationship between UWHC and Nursebridge. Please send your written response to me by May 21, 2001. Your prompt attention to this matter is appreciated.

Sincerely,

Matthew J. Frank

EMPLOYMENT 103.57

(2) That the officer or member, or association or organization, which to be held liable or responsible actually participated in or organized those acts or ratified those acts with actual knowledge of those acts.
History: 1997 s 253

103.545 Recruitment of strikebreakers. (1) In this section:

- (a) "Employer" has the meaning given under s 111.02 (7)
 - (b) "Strikebreaker" means any person who at least twice during the previous 12-month period has accepted employment for the duration of a strike or a lockout in place of employees who are involved in a strike or lockout of a specific employer, but does not include any supervisory or other permanent employee of the employer who is temporarily assigned to perform the duties of an employee involved in a strike or lockout or other permanent or contractual employee whose services are necessary to ensure that the plant or other property of the employer involved in the strike or lockout is properly maintained and protected for the resumption of normal operations at any time
 - (2) No employer may knowingly employ or contract with another to employ any strikebreaker to replace employees who are on strike against the employer or locked out by it.
 - (3) No person who is not directly involved in a strike or lockout may recruit any strikebreaker for employment or secure or offer to secure employment for any strikebreaker when the purpose thereof is to have the strikebreaker replace an employee in an industry or establishment where a strike or lockout exists.
 - (4) No person, including a licensed employment agent, may transport or arrange to transport to this state any strikebreaker to be engaged in employment for the purpose of replacing employees in an industry or establishment where a strike or lockout exists.
 - (5) Whoever violates this section or any order of the department issued under this section may be fined not more than $2,000 or imprisoned in the county jail for not more than one year or both.
 - (6) Upon complaint of an affected employer, labor organization or employee, the department may investigate violations and issue orders to enforce this section. The investigations and orders shall be made as provided under s 103.005. Orders are subject to review as provided in ch. 227. The department of justice may, upon request of the commission, prosecute violations of this section in any court of competent jurisdiction.
- History: 1970 c 322, 1983 s 189, 329 (s), 1995 s 27

103.55 Public policy as to labor litigation. In the interpretation and application of ss 103.56 to 103.59, the public policy of this state is declared to be:

- (1) Equity procedure that permits a complaining party to obtain sweeping injunctive relief that is not preceded by or conditioned upon notice to and hearing of the responding party or parties, or that issues after hearing based upon written affidavits alone and not wholly or in part upon examination, confrontation and cross-examination of witnesses in open court, is peculiarly subject to abuse in labor litigation for all of the following reasons:
 - (a) That the existing state of affairs cannot be maintained but is necessarily altered by the injunction
 - (b) That determination of issues of veracity and of probability of fact from affidavits of the opposing parties that are contradictory and, under the circumstances, untrustworthy rather than from oral examination in open court is subject to grave error
 - (c) That error in issuing the injunctive relief is usually irreparable to the opposing party.
 - (d) That delay incident to the normal course of appellate practice frequently makes ultimate correction of error in law or in fact unavailing in the particular case
- History: 1979 c 110 s 60 (9), 1985 s 135, 1987 s 259

103.56 Injunctions: conditions of issuance; restraining orders. (1) No court shall have jurisdiction to issue a temporary or permanent injunction in any case involving or growing out of a labor dispute, except after hearing the testimony of witnesses in open court, with opportunity for cross-examination, in support of the allegations of a complaint made under oath, and testimony in opposition to the allegations of the complaint, if offered, and except after findings of all of the following facts by the court:

- (a) That unlawful acts have been threatened or committed and will be executed or continued unless restrained.
- (b) That substantial and irreparable injury to complainant's property will follow unless the relief requested is granted.
- (c) That as to each item of relief granted greater injury will be inflicted upon the complainant by the denial of that relief than will be inflicted upon the defendants by the granting of that relief.
- (d) That the relief to be granted does not violate s 103.53
- (e) That the complainant has no adequate remedy at law.
- (f) That the public officers charged with the duty to protect complainant's property have failed or are unable to furnish adequate protection.

(2) A hearing under sub. (1) shall be held after due and personal notice of the hearing has been given, in the manner that the court shall direct, to all known persons against whom relief is sought, and also to those public officers who are charged with the duty to protect the complainant's property.

(3) If a complainant alleges that a substantial and irreparable injury to the complainant's property will be unavoidable unless a temporary restraining order is issued before a hearing under sub. (1) may be had, a temporary restraining order may be granted on reasonable notice of application for the temporary restraining order as the court may direct by order to show cause, but in no case less than 48 hour's notice. The order to show cause shall be served upon the party or parties that are sought to be restrained and that are specified in the order. The order shall be issued only upon testimony under oath or, in the discretion of the court, upon affidavits, sufficient, if sustained, to justify the court in issuing a temporary injunction upon a hearing as provided for under this section.

(4) A temporary restraining order issued under sub. (3) shall be effective for no longer than 5 days and, at the expiration of the 5-day period, shall become void and not subject to renewal or extension, except that if the hearing for a temporary injunction begins before the expiration of the 5-day period the restraining order may in the court's discretion be continued until a decision is reached on the issuance of the temporary injunction.

(5) No temporary restraining order or temporary injunction may be issued under this section except on condition that the complainant first files an undertaking with adequate security sufficient to compensate those enjoined for any loss, expense, or damage caused by the improvident or erroneous issuance of the order or injunction, including all reasonable costs, reasonable attorney fees and expenses that will be incurred in opposing the order or the granting of any injunctive relief sought in the same proceeding and subsequently denied by the court.

(6) The undertaking required under sub. (5) shall represent an agreement between the complainant and the surety upon which a decree may be rendered in the same suit or proceeding against the complainant and surety, the complainant and surety submitting themselves to the jurisdiction of the court for that purpose. However, nothing contained in this section deprives any party having a claim or cause of action under or upon an undertaking filed under sub. (5) from electing to pursue an ordinary remedy by writ of law or in equity.

History: 1991 s 412, 1997 s 254. Sub. (1) and 103.02, relating to restrictions upon the jurisdiction of a court to issue injunctions in cases arising from labor disputes, are inapplicable to actions brought by the state or its political subdivisions against public employers. Joint School v Wisconsin Rapids Bd Assoc 70 Wis 2d 292, 234 N W 2d 248

103.57 Clean hands doctrine. No restraining order or injunctive relief may be granted to any complainant who has failed to comply with any legal obligation which is involved in the labor dispute in question, or who has failed to make every reasonable effort to settle the dispute either by negotiation or with the aid

Dear Chairperson Senator Moen and Members of the Committee on Health,
Utilities, Veterans and Military Affairs:

A question was raised at my recent confirmation hearing on whether University of Wisconsin Hospital & Clinics was planning to hire professional strikebreakers. At the hearing, I was not aware of this issue and have made some further inquiry. The term "professional strikebreaker" is defined by Wisconsin Statutes Section 103.545 as a person who has at least twice during the previous 12 month period accepted employment for the duration of a strike or lockout in place of employees who are involved in a strike or lockout.

I have been advised that UWHC has, in the interests of continuing patient care, made arrangements with a nurse staffing agency to insure they have sufficient nursing staff available in the event of a strike. I am also advised that it is, and always has been, the expressed intention of the UWHC to fully comply with the Wisconsin strikebreaker statute.

I hope this information is helpful to you. Please feel free to contact me if you are in need of further information.

Sincerely yours,

Geo. K. Steil, Sr.
