Recodification of Juvenile Justice Code

Assumptions Used in Arriving at Fiscal Estimate

This bill is a recodification of Chapter 938, the Juvenile Justice Code. The bill makes several technical statutory changes, including the reorganization of individual sections, nonsubstantive editorial changes to modernize language, the revision of section titles, and the clarification of ambiguous language.

The changes in this bill are technical in nature and will not affect the Department. Therefore, this bill would not have a fiscal effect on the Department of Health and Family Services or county departments of human or social services.
