Fiscal Estimate Narratives

Individual income tax checkoff for multiple sclerosis programs

Assumptions Used in Arriving at Fiscal Estimate

This bill creates an income tax check-off for designations to multiple sclerosis programs. The total amount of designations less the cost of administering the check-off procedure must be used to fund health-related programs for people with multiple sclerosis.

According to the Department of Revenue data from tax year 2003 returns, about 39,500 tax filers contributed a total of $639,000 in donations to the endangered species program; donations to the endangered species program are collected in the same way as the proposed check-off for donations to the multiple sclerosis programs would be administered. Assuming similar participation in the proposed check-off, 39,500 filers would donate a total of $640,000 to the multiple sclerosis programs.

The Department would incur one-time costs of $21,600 for 400 hours of programming changes to individual income tax forms and the Free File system. These costs would be deducted from total donations received and the remaining funds would be used for the military tax relief fund. Therefore, the first year of the check-off program would bring in a total of $618,400 ($640,000 - $21,600) in donations after deducting the cost of administering the program. If the amount of donations remains constant each year, total annual donations would be $640,000 for each subsequent year.
