Assumptions Used in Arriving at Fiscal Estimate

This bill, if enacted, will require each state agency and local governmental unit to adopt procedures to implement the bill's provisions and to provide training to every officer and employee regarding the bill's content. It is likely that most agencies and local government units can absorb these costs through existing appropriations. The bill created a new provision of the Ethics Code that applies, not just to public officials, but to all state employees. This could lead to increased costs for the Ethics Board in investigations and prosecutions.

Long-Range Fiscal Implications
