Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

This bill creates a Government Accountability Board which replaces the current Elections Board and Ethics Board. Significant provisions include:

Board structure

Currently, the Elections Board consists of eight or nine members. The governor appoints all of the members of the Elections Board, without confirmation by the senate, to serve for two-year terms as follows: one member is selected by the governor and one member each is designated by the chief justice of the supreme court, the speaker of the assembly, the senate majority leader, the minority leader in each house of the legislature, and the chief officer of each political party qualifying for a separate ballot at the September primary whose candidate for governor at the most recent gubernatorial election received at least 10 percent of the vote (as November 1, 2006, the Republican, Democratic, and Libertarian parties).

Currently, the Ethics Board consists of six members. Members of the Ethics Board are nominated by the governor, and with the advice and consent of the senate appointed, to serve for staggered six-year terms. The consent of a majority of the senators present and voting is required to confirm a nominee. All members of the Ethics Board must be U.S. citizens and residents of this state, and no member may hold any other office or employment in the government of this state or any political subdivision thereof or in any state department. No member, for one year immediately prior to the date of nomination, may have been, and no member, while serving on the Ethics Board, may become, a member of a political party, an officer or member of a committee in any partisan political club or organization, or an officer or employee of a registrant under the campaign finance law. No member, while serving on the board or for 12 months thereafter, may become a candidate for state or local elective office. In addition, no member, while serving on the board, may make a political contribution to a candidate for state or local elective office.

This bill abolishes both boards and replaces them with a Government Accountability Board. Under the bill, the board is composed of six members serving for staggered four-year terms who are nominated by the governor and appointed with the advice and consent of the senate. The consent of two-thirds of the senators present and voting is required to confirm a nominee. However, the bill provides that the governor shall submit three of the nominees to initially fill seats on the board solely to the senate for confirmation by a majority of the senators who are present and voting and shall submit three of the nominees to initially fill seats on the board solely to the assembly for confirmation by a majority of the representatives to the assembly who are present and voting. Each of the members of the Government Accountability Board must be a retired judge of a court of record in this state who was elected to serve in the position that he or she held. Each of the members must be appointed from nominations submitted by a Governmental Accountability

Candidate Committee, which consists of one court of appeals judge from each of the court of appeals districts who serve for two-year terms. The judges are chosen by lot by the chief justice of the supreme court in the presence of the other justices. A unanimous vote of the committee is required to nominate a candidate. No member of the Government Accountability Board may hold another position that is subject to the code of ethics for state public officials or the code of ethics for local public officials, except that a member may serve as a circuit judge or court of appeals judge if appointed on a reserve basis. No member, for one year immediately prior to the date of nomination, may have been, and no member while serving on the board may become, a member of a political party, an officer or member of a committee in any partisan political club or organization, a candidate for any state or local elective office or an officer or employee of a registrant under the campaign finance law. No member may, while serving on the board or for 12 months thereafter, become a candidate for state or local elective office. No member may be a lobbyist or an employee of a principal (person who employs a lobbyist). The chairperson of the board is chosen by lot by the current chairperson at the first meeting of the board in January of each year. The concurrence of at least four members is required for the board to take any action. No member, for 12 months prior to beginning that service, may have made a political contribution to a candidate for a partisan state or local office.

Currently, the Elections Board and the Ethics Board must employ executive directors outside the classified service and the Elections Board must employ legal counsel. This bill directs the Government Accountability Board to employ an individual outside the classified service to serve as legal counsel to the board, who is directed to provide legal and administrative functions for the board. The bill prescribes certain other statutory responsibilities for this officer.

The bill creates two divisions within the Government Accountability Board. The divisions are an Ethics and Accountability Division and an Elections Division. The Ethics and Accountability Division has the responsibility for the administration of the campaign finance law. Each division is headed by a division administrator who is appointed outside the classified service by the board to serve at its pleasure. The bill prescribes certain statutory responsibilities for the administrators.

The bill does not authorize any new positions for the administrators. The bill transfers all authorized FTE positions of the Elections Board and Ethics Board to the Government Accountability Board. The bill also transfers all incumbent employees in the positions, except the executive directors of the boards. Under the bill, the staff members who have civil service rights retain those rights.

Enforcement procedures

Under current law, the Elections Board and Ethics Board share civil enforcement authority with district attorneys and in some cases with county boards of election commissioners and the attorney general; and the district attorneys, and in some cases the attorney general, exercise criminal enforcement authority. Currently, the Elections Board and Ethics Board may investigate violations of the law, with or without complaint, and may enforce their respective laws. The Elections Board may file civil actions to collect forfeitures (civil monetary penalties) for violations of the law and the Ethics Board may, after an administrative hearing, assess civil forfeitures or impose certain other remedies for violations of the law. Currently, the Elections Board has an administrative procedure for processing of complaints from electors alleging that an action or failure to act on the part of an election official is contrary to law, or that an official has abused his or her discretion. Under the procedure, the board may order the official to conform his or her conduct to the law or may prosecute the official for a civil violation of the law. If either board finds a criminal violation of the law, it may refer the matter to the appropriate district attorney, or in certain cases the attorney general. Under current law, the attorney general is directed to investigate crimes that are statewide in nature and to represent state agencies and witnesses in court. In addition, under current law, the attorney general has certain limited responsibilities related to administration and enforcement of the elections, ethics, and lobbying regulation laws and may prosecute certain offenses when the Ethics Board so requests or when a district attorney declines or fails to do so.

This bill maintains the current shared enforcement authority between the Government Accountability Board and the district attorneys, but deletes the enforcement authority of county boards of election commissioners. The bill maintains the current responsibilities of the attorney general but modifies the authority of the attorney general to prosecute most offenses under the elections, ethics, and lobbying regulation laws. In addition, the bill creates a new investigatory and prosecution procedure that is uniformly applicable to all investigations and prosecutions of violations of the elections, ethics, and lobbying regulation laws by the Government Accountability Board. Under the bill, the board may investigate any alleged violation of the elections, ethics, or lobbying regulation laws and may prosecute alleged civil violations. The board may also refer suspected civil or criminal violations to the appropriate district attorney. Any person may file a complaint with the board alleging a violation of the elections, ethics, or lobbying regulation laws. If the board reviews a complaint and does not find that there is a reasonable suspicion that a violation has occurred or is occurring, the board must dismiss the complaint. If the board determines that there is a reasonable suspicion that a violation has occurred or is occurring, it may direct the administrator of the ethics and accountability division of the board to submit the names of three qualified individuals to act as special investigators. The board may retain one or more of the special investigators. The board may also authorize the administrator to investigate any matter without retaining an investigator. If the board retains a special investigator, the board may issue a subpoena to a specific person or may authorize the investigator to obtain a search warrant if the board approves that action by motion at a meeting of the board. A special investigator or the administrator must report to the board concerning an investigation at least once every 30 days. The board must meet with the special investigator or administrator at least once every 90 days to review the progress of an investigation. The investigation terminates after 90 days unless the board votes to continue it for an additional period not exceeding 90 days. The board is prohibited from expending more than $10,000 to finance the cost of an investigation before receiving a report on the progress of the investigation and a recommendation to commit additional resources. The board may vote to terminate an investigation at any time. If the board finds that there is probable cause to believe that a violation of the elections, ethics, or lobbying regulation laws has occurred or is occurring, it may authorize the filing of a civil complaint against a person and may, in addition, request the administrator to submit the names of three individuals to act as special counsel. If the board retains special counsel, the bill provides for the counsel to be paid from a sum sufficient appropriation from general purpose revenue. Once retained, the special counsel proceeds with the case in the manner he or she sees fit, with the assistance of the staff of the board if requested. Alternatively, the board may refer the matter to the district attorney for the county having authority to prosecute the matter for potential civil or criminal prosecution or in certain cases to another district attorney or to the attorney general (see below). Under the bill, the only authority of the attorney general to prosecute violations of the elections, ethics, and lobbying regulation laws is upon referral by the Government Accountability Board after two district attorneys have declined or failed to act or in criminal cases involving a district attorney or circuit judge or a candidate for one of those offices.

The bill permits the Government Accountability Board, by rule, to authorize the administrator of the ethics and accountability division to compromise and settle specified categories of offenses in the name of the board without a formal investigation, if the offenses by any given alleged offender do not involve payment of more than $1,000. The bill provides that no individual who serves as an employee of the board and no individual who is retained to serve as a special investigator or special counsel for the board may, during such service or for 12 months after ceasing to be so employed or retained, become a candidate for a state or local elective office. In addition, under the bill, no such employee or individual, while serving in his or her position, may make a political contribution to a candidate for state or local office, and no such employee or individual, for 12 months prior to becoming so employed or retained, may have made a political contribution to a candidate for a partisan state or local office.

Venue

Currently, civil prosecutions for violations of the elections laws are brought by the Elections Board or by a district attorney in circuit court for the county where the violation is alleged to occur. Civil violations of the ethics or lobbying regulation laws may be prosecuted by the Ethics Board in an administrative proceeding. Currently, with limited exceptions, a defendant in a criminal trial is tried in circuit court for the county where the defendant's crime is alleged to have been committed by the district attorney for that county, except that the defendant may request the judge to move the trial to another county and the judge may grant the request if the judge believes that an impartial trial cannot be had unless the trial is moved, and except that the district attorney may request the appointment of, or a circuit judge may appoint, another prosecutor. Currently, a defendant in a trial to impose a civil (monetary) forfeiture for most offenses is generally tried in circuit court for the county where the offense is alleged to occur.

This bill provides that if the defendant in a civil or criminal trial for a violation of the elections, ethics, or lobbying regulation laws is a resident of this state, the trial must be held in circuit court for the county where the defendant resides, except that a civil or criminal trial may be moved in the same manner as currently provided for criminal trials. Under the bill, with the same limited exceptions, the prosecution is conducted by the district attorney for the county where the trial is required to be held prior to any removal, unless that district attorney requests, or the circuit judge appoints, another prosecutor. The bill provides, however, that if the Government Accountability Board refers any matter to the district attorney for the county in which the alleged violator resides for prosecution and the district attorney informs the board that he or she declines to prosecute any civil or criminal violation related to any matter referred to the district attorney by the board, or the district attorney fails to commence a civil or criminal prosecution related to any such matter within 60 days of the date of referral, the board may then refer the matter to the district attorney for a prosecutorial unit that is contiguous to the prosecutorial unit of the district attorney to whom the matter was originally referred. If there is more than one such prosecutorial unit, the chairperson of the board determines the prosecutorial unit of the district attorney to whom the matter is to be referred by the public drawing of lots at a meeting of the board. The district attorney for the contiguous prosecutorial unit may then commence a civil or criminal prosecution related to any of the alleged violations referred to him or her by the board. The bill provides, in addition, that if the district attorney to whom a matter is rereferred by the board informs the board that he or she declines to prosecute any civil or criminal violation related to any matter referred to the district attorney by the board, or if that district attorney fails to commence any civil or criminal prosecution related to any such matter within 60 days of the date of the referral, the board may then refer the matter to the attorney general, who may then commence a civil or criminal prosecution related to any of the alleged violations referred to him or her by the board. However, the venue for the trial is not altered by the substitution of the prosecutor. Under the bill, if a special prosecutor is appointed in lieu of the district attorney for the county in which the alleged violator resides, the board is not authorized to appoint another prosecutor.

The bill also provides that violations of any civil or criminal laws by a resident of this state arising from or in relation to the official functions of the subject of the investigation or any matter that involves elections, ethics, or lobbying regulation laws shall be prosecuted in circuit court for the county where the defendant resides by the district attorney for that county, subject to the current exceptions.

Advisory opinions

Currently, opinions of the Elections Board are open to public inspection, but opinions of the Ethics Board, with limited exceptions, are closed to public inspection. However, the Ethics Board publishes summaries of its opinions without divulging information that could reveal the identity of the requester. This bill makes all opinions issued by the Government Accountability Board closed to public inspection, subject to the current exceptions for opinions issued by the Ethics Board. Currently, the Ethics Board may authorize its executive director issue opinions on its behalf.

The bill permits the Government Accountability Board to authorize an employee of the board to issue informal opinions on its behalf. The bill requires every opinion issued by the staff to be consistent with applicable opinions of the Government Accountability Board. The bill provides that in order to have legal force and effect, each advisory opinion issued by the board must be supported by specific legal authority under a statute or other law, or case or common law authority. In addition, each opinion must include citations to that authority, and must specifically articulate or explain which parts of the cited authority are relevant to the board's conclusion and why they are relevant. Under the bill, no person acting in good faith upon an opinion of the board is subject to criminal or civil prosecution for so acting, but the board may withdraw or modify opinions and no person is protected from liability unless that person acts in accordance with a current opinion. The bill permits a person who disagrees with an opinion issued to the person to request and receive a public or private hearing before the board on the matter.

Implementation

Currently, the Elections and Ethics boards have sum certain appropriations derived from state general purpose revenue. In addition, both boards finance some of their operations with program revenue. Currently, the Ethics Board has a sum certain appropriation to finance the cost of investigations of potential violations of the code of ethics for public officials. This bill creates an appropriation structure for the Government Accountability Board that is similar to the structure that is currently provided for the existing boards, except that the bill appropriates a sum sufficient to finance the costs of investigations of potential violations of the elections, ethics, and lobbying regulation laws by the Government Accountability Board. The bill makes an appropriation to the Joint Committee on Finance to enable the committee to provide transitional funding to the Government Accountability Board during the 2006–07 fiscal year. In addition, the bill creates a budget for the Government Accountability Board for the 2007–09 fiscal biennium. This budget is subject to review and revision as a part of the 2007–09 biennial budget bill.

The bill provides for the bill to become law on the day after publication as an act, after which date the members of the Government Accountability Board may be appointed and take office, and the board may employ staff and expend moneys from its appropriation for general program operations. However, the existing Elections Board and Ethics Board continue in operation until the first day of the seventh month beginning after publication of the act resulting from enactment of the bill. Under the bill, the Government Accountability Board may not exercise administrative or enforcement authority until that date. The bill also provides that the director of the Legislative Council Staff shall serve as executive director of the Government Accountability Board, without additional compensation, until the initial executive director of the Government Accountability Board is appointed and qualified, and may exercise all of the functions of the executive director of the Government Accountability Board, the divisions within the board, and the administrators of the divisions.

The bill directs the Government Accountability Board to hold one or more public hearings on the question of reaffirmation of each rule that has been promulgated and each order that has been issued by the Elections Board or the Ethics Board and that is in effect on the date of the Government Accountability

Board's initial meeting. The bill further directs the Government Accountability Board to hold one or more public hearings on the question of reaffirmation of each formal opinion that has been issued by the Elections Board or the Ethics Board and that has not been withdrawn or modified on the date of the Government Accountability Board's initial meeting. Similarly, the bill directs the Government Accountability Board to hold one or more public hearings on the question of reaffirmation of each guideline that has been issued by the Ethics Board. The bill also provides that every rule promulgated and every order issued by the Elections Board or the Ethics Board that is in effect on the day of the Government Accountability Board's initial meeting shall expire on its specified expiration date or 365 days after the date of the Government Accountability Board's initial meeting, whichever is earlier, unless the Government Accountability Board repeals or amends the rule, effective on a earlier date, or the Government Accountability Board reaffirms the rule or order before its expiration. In addition, the bill provides that every formal opinion issued by the Elections Board or the Ethics Board that has not been withdrawn or modified on the date of the Government Accountability Board's initial meeting remains in effect until the end of the 365-day period beginning on the date of that meeting unless the Government Accountability Board withdraws or modifies the opinion on an earlier date or the Government Accountability Board reaffirms the opinion on an earlier date. Similarly, the bill provides that every guideline issued by the Ethics Board must be withdrawn by the Government Accountability Board no later than the end of the 365-day period beginning on the date of that board's initial meeting unless that board chooses to withdraw or revise the guideline at an earlier date or unless the board specifically votes to reaffirm the current text of the guideline as issued prior to the end of that period. The bill permits the Government Accountability Board to extend the expiration date, the period of effectiveness, or the circulation period of any rule, order, or formal opinion of either board or any guideline that has been issued by the Ethics Board by not more than three months at a time, but not more than six months in all.

The bill also directs the Government Accountability Board, within one year after the date of the board's initial meeting, to review all internal operating procedures of the Ethics Board and the Elections Board in effect on the date of that meeting that affect the manner in which the board interrelates with persons who are not employees of the Government Accountability Board. The review must specifically address the degree to which employees are authorized to perform their functions without direct supervision or approval of the Government Accountability Board. While the review is underway, the bill provides that no employee of the Government Accountability Board may make any change in such an internal operating procedure unless the board holds a public hearing concerning the proposed change and the board specifically approves the change.

Records and information

Currently, except as otherwise provided by law, public records may be examined or copied by any person unless the custodian demonstrates that the public interest in withholding access to a record outweighs the public interest in providing access. With certain exceptions, records obtained and prepared by the Ethics Board in connection with an investigation are specifically exempted from public access. This bill provides specifically that investigatory records of the Government Accountability Board are exempted from the right of public access, subject to the current exceptions, except that if the board commences a prosecution of a person as a result of an investigation, the person who is the subject of the investigation may direct the board to provide access to records of the investigation pertaining to that person if the records are available by law to the subject person, and except that records of the board containing a finding that a complaint does not raise a reasonable suspicion that a violation of the law has occurred or records containing a finding that no probable cause exists to believe that a violation of the law has occurred are open to public access. Under the bill, except as specifically authorized by law, an investigator, prosecutor, employee of an investigator or prosecutor, or member or employee of the board who verbally discloses information related to an investigation or prosecution under the elections, ethics, or lobbying regulation laws or other laws arising from or in relation to the official functions of the subject of the investigation or any matter that involves elections, ethics, or lobbying regulation or who provides public access to a record of the investigator, prosecutor, or the board that is not accessible to the public prior to presentation of the information or record in a court of law is guilty of a misdemeanor and may be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned for not more than nine months or both.

Closed sessions

Currently, state boards may convene in closed session to discuss the investigation of charges against specific persons. This bill provides that the Government Accountability Board must convene in closed session for the purpose of deliberating concerning any investigation under the board's jurisdiction. If any member of the board knowingly attends a meeting held in violation of this requirement, the member is subject to a forfeiture (civil penalty) of not less than $25 nor more than $300 for each offense.

Nonseverability

Currently, if any part of an act is found by a court to be invalid, those parts that are valid are severed from the invalid part and the severed parts continue in force. This bill provides that if any part of the act resulting from enactment of the bill is found by a court to be invalid, then all parts of the act are void, except that any such invalidation does not revive any law that is repealed by this bill nor revive any administrative body that was in existence prior to the day this bill becomes law.

For further information see the state fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.

15 under s. 7.30 (4) (e), subject to such limitations as the board deems appropriate.

16 SECTION 8. 5.05 (1e) of the statutes is created to read:

24 5.05 (2m) ENFORCEMENT. (a) The board shall investigate violations of laws 25 administered by the board and may prosecute alleged civil violations of those laws,

1 directly or through its agents under this subsection, pursuant to all statutes granting 2 or assigning that authority or responsibility to the board. Prosecution of alleged 3 criminal violations investigated by the board may be brought only as provided in par.
4 (c) 11., 14., 15., and 16. and s. 978.05 (1).

5 (c) 2. a. Any person may file a complaint with the board alleging a violation of 6 chs. 5 to 12, subch. III of ch. 13, or subch. III of ch. 19. If the board finds, by a 7 preponderance of the evidence, that a complaint is frivolous, the board may order the 8 complainant to forfeit not more than the greater of $500 or the expenses incurred by 9 the division in investigating the complaint.

10 4. If the board reviews a complaint and fails to find that there is a reasonable 11 suspicion that a violation under subd. 2. has occurred or is occurring, the board shall 12 dismiss the complaint. If the board believes that there is reasonable suspicion that 13 a violation under subd. 2. has occurred or is occurring, the board may by resolution 14 authorize the commencement of an investigation. The resolution shall specifically 15 set forth any matter that is authorized to be investigated. To assist in the 16 investigation, the board may elect to retain a special investigator. If the board elects 17 to retain a special investigator, the administrator of the ethics and accountability 18 division shall submit to the board the names of 3 qualified individuals to serve as a 19 special investigator. The board may retain one or more of the individuals. If the 20 board retains a special investigator to investigate a complaint against a person who 21 is a resident of this state, the board shall provide to the district attorney for the 22 county in which the person resides a copy of the complaint and shall notify the 23 district attorney that it has retained a special investigator to investigate the 24 complaint. For purposes of this subdivision, a person other than a natural person 25 resides within a county if the person's principal place of operation is located within

1 that county. The board shall enter into a written contract with any individual who 2 is retained as a special investigator setting forth the terms of the engagement. A 3 special investigator who is retained by the board may request the board to issue a 4 subpoena to a specific person or to authorize the special investigator to request a 5 circuit court to issue a search warrant. The board may grant the request by 6 approving a motion to that effect at a meeting of the board if the board finds that such 7 action is legally appropriate.

8 5. Each special investigator who is retained by the board shall make periodic 9 reports to the board, as directed by the board, but in no case may the interval for 10 reporting exceed 30 days. If the board authorizes the administrator of the ethics and 11 accountability division to investigate any matter without retaining a special 12 investigator, the administrator shall make periodic reports to the board, as directed 13 by the board, but in no case may the reporting interval exceed 30 days. During the 14 pendency of any investigation, the board shall meet for the purpose of reviewing the 15 progress of the investigation at least once every 90 days. The special investigator or 16 the administrator shall report in person to the board at that meeting concerning the 17 progress of the investigation. If, after receiving a report, the board does not vote to 18 continue an investigation for an additional period not exceeding 90 days, the 19 investigation is terminated at the end of the reporting interval. The board shall not 20 expend more than $10,000 to finance the cost of an investigation before receiving a 21 report on the progress of the investigation and recommendation to commit additional 22 resources. The board may vote to terminate an investigation at any time. If an 23 investigation is terminated, any complaint from which the investigation arose is 24 deemed to be dismissed by the board. Unless an investigation is terminated by the 1 board, at the conclusion of each investigation, the administrator shall present to the 2 board one of the following:

3 a. A recommendation to make a finding that probable cause exists to believe 4 that one or more violations under subd. 2. have occurred or are occurring, together 5 with a recommended course of action.

6 b. A recommendation for further investigation of the matter together with facts 7 supporting that course of action.

8 c. A recommendation to terminate the investigation due to lack of sufficient 9 evidence to indicate that a violation under subd. 2 has occurred or is occurring.

10 6. a. If the board finds that there is probable cause to believe that a violation 11 under subd. 2. has occurred or is occurring, the board may authorize the 12 administrator of the ethics and accountability division to file a civil complaint 13 against the alleged violator. In such case, the administrator may request the 14 assistance of special counsel to prosecute any action brought by the board. If the 15 administrator requests the assistance of special counsel with respect to any matter, 16 the administrator shall submit to the board the names of 3 qualified individuals to 17 serve as special counsel. The board may retain one of the individuals to act as special 18 counsel. The staff of the board shall provide assistance to the special counsel as may 19 be required by the counsel to carry out his or her responsibilities.

20 b. The board shall enter into a written contract with any individual who is 21 retained as special counsel setting forth the terms of the engagement. The contract 22 shall set forth the compensation to be paid such counsel by the state. The contract 23 shall be executed on behalf of the state by the board's legal counsel, who shall file the 24 contract in the office of the secretary of state. The compensation shall be charged to 25 the appropriation under s. 20.455 (1) (b).

1 7. No individual who is appointed or retained by the board to serve as special 2 counsel or as a special investigator is subject to approval under s. 20.930.

3 8. Upon employment of any individual to serve as special counsel or as a special 4 investigator for the board, the administrator of the ethics and accountability division 5 shall certify the maximum amount provided in the employment contract to the 6 secretary of administration, and direct the department of administration to pay bills 7 of the special counsel or special investigator related to that case within the certified 8 amount.

9 11. If the board finds that there is probable cause to believe that a violation 10 under subd. 2. has occurred or is occurring, the board may, in lieu of civil prosecution 11 of any matter by the board, refer the matter to the district attorney for the county 12 in which the alleged violator resides, or if the alleged violator is a nonresident, to the 13 district attorney for the county where the matter arises, or if par. (i) applies, to the 14 attorney general or a special prosecutor. For purposes of this subdivision, a person 15 other than a natural person resides within a county if the person's principal place of 16 operation is located within that county.

17 12. The board may, by rule, prescribe categories of civil offenses which the board 18 will agree to compromise and settle without a formal investigation upon payment of 19 specified amounts by the alleged offender. The board may authorize the 20 administrator of the ethics and accountability division to compromise and settle such 21 alleged offenses in the name of the board if the alleged offenses by an offender, in the 22 aggregate, do not involve payment of more than $1,000.

23 13. If a special investigator or the administrator of the ethics and 24 accountability division, in the course of an investigation authorized by the board, 25 discovers evidence that a violation under subd. 2. that was not within the scope of

1 the authorized investigation has occurred or is occurring, the special investigator or 2 the administrator may present that evidence to the board. If the board finds that 3 there is a reasonable suspicion that a violation under subd. 2. that is not within the 4 scope of the authorized investigation has occurred or is occurring, the board may 5 authorize the special investigator or the administrator to investigate the alleged 6 violation or may elect to authorize a separate investigation of the alleged violation 7 as provided in subd. 4.

8 14. If a special investigator or the administrator of the ethics and 9 accountability division of the board, in the course of an investigation authorized by 10 the board, discovers evidence of a potential violation of a law that is not administered 11 by the board arising from or in relation to the official functions of the subject of the 12 investigation or any matter that involves elections, ethics, or lobbying regulation, 13 the special investigator or the administrator may present that evidence to the board.
14 The board may thereupon refer the matter to the appropriate district attorney 15 specified in subd. 11.

16 15. Except as provided in subd. 17., if the board refers a matter to the district 17 attorney specified in subd. 11. for prosecution of a potential violation under subd. 2.
18 or 14. and the district attorney informs the board that he or she declines to prosecute 19 any alleged civil or criminal violation related to any matter referred to the district 20 attorney by the board, or the district attorney fails to commence a prosecution of any 21 civil or criminal violation related to any matter referred to the district attorney by 22 the board within 60 days of the date of the board's referral, the board may refer the 23 matter to the district attorney for another prosecutorial unit that is contiguous to the 24 prosecutorial unit of the district attorney to whom the matter was originally 25 referred. If there is more than one such prosecutorial unit, the chairperson of the 1 board shall determine the district attorney to whom the matter shall be referred by 2 publicly drawing lots at a meeting of the board. The district attorney may then 3 commence a civil or criminal prosecution relating to the matter.

4 16. Except as provided in subd. 17., if the board refers a matter to a district 5 attorney under subd. 15. for prosecution of a potential violation under subd. 2. or 14.
6 and the district attorney informs the board that he or she declines to prosecute any 7 alleged civil or criminal violation related to any matter referred to the district 8 attorney by the board, or the district attorney fails to commence a prosecution of any 9 civil or criminal violation related to any matter referred to the district attorney by 10 the board within 60 days of the date of the board's referral, the board may refer the 11 matter to the attorney general. The attorney general may then commence a civil or 12 criminal prosecution relating to the matter.

13 17. The board is not authorized to act under subd. 15. or 16. if a special 14 prosecutor is appointed under s. 978.045 in lieu of the district attorney specified in 15 subd. 11.

16 18. Whenever the board refers a matter to special counsel or to a district 17 attorney or to the attorney general under this subsection, the special counsel, district 18 attorney, or attorney general shall report to the board concerning any action taken 19 regarding the matter. The report shall be transmitted no later than 40 days after the 20 date of the referral. If the matter is not disposed of during that period, the special 21 counsel, district attorney, or attorney general shall file a subsequent report at the 22 end of each 30-day period following the filing of the initial report until final 23 disposition of the matter.

24 (d) No individual who serves as an employee of the board and no individual who 25 is retained by the board to serve as a special investigator or as special counsel may,

1 while so employed or retained or for 12 months after ceasing to be so employed or 2 retained, may become a candidate, as defined in s. 11.01 (1), for state or local office.
3 A filing officer shall decline to accept nomination papers or a declaration of candidacy 4 from any individual who does not qualify to become a candidate under this 5 paragraph.
