Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Establishment of domestic partnership registry

✓ This bill establishes a domestic partnership registry in the Office of the Secretary of State (secretary) and provides the requirements for registering and terminating a domestic partnership. Under the bill, a domestic partnership that may be registered with the secretary may be entered into by two individuals who are at least 18 years old and who are not married or in another state-registered domestic partnership. The individuals must share a common residence, they may not be nearer of kin than second cousins, and either both of them must be members of the same sex or at least one of them must be 62 years old or older. To register the domestic partnership, the domestic partners file with the secretary a declaration that is signed by both domestic partners and notarized. The secretary then issues a certificate of state-registered domestic partnership to each of the parties.

To terminate a state-registered domestic partnership, at least one of the domestic partners must file with the secretary a notice of termination of state-registered domestic partnership, which must be signed by one or both of the domestic partners and notarized. If only one of the domestic partners signs the notice, he or she must also file an affidavit stating either of the following: 1) that he or she has served the other domestic partner with notice that he or she is going to file

Individuals

who are then state-registered domestic

a notice of termination of state-registered domestic partnership; or 2) that he or she has been unable to locate the other domestic partner and has published a notice in a newspaper of general circulation in the county in which the latest common residence of the domestic partners is located. Upon receipt of a notice of termination, or a notice and an affidavit, the secretary issues a certificate of termination of state-registered domestic partnership to each domestic partner. The termination of the state-registered domestic partnership is effective 90 days after the notice is filed with the secretary. However, if one or both domestic partners enters into a marriage that is valid in the state, the state-registered domestic partnership is automatically terminated on the date of the marriage.

The secretary must prepare the forms to be used for the declaration of state-registered domestic partnership and notice of termination of state-registered domestic partnership and must distribute the forms to county clerks. The forms must be available at the secretary's office, at county clerks' offices, and on the Internet. The secretary must provide copies of all declarations and notices of termination that are filed with the secretary to the state registrar, who must maintain records of the copies. The secretary must also by rule set the fees that individuals must pay for filing declarations and notices of termination.

Court and evidentiary matters

Under current law, a court reviewing a settlement or monetary judgment for the plaintiff in a wrongful death action may set aside an amount of up to 50% of the net settlement or judgment, after deducting collection costs, for the support of the decedent's surviving spouse or minor children. Current law permits a surviving spouse or other relatives allowed to bring a wrongful death action to satisfy and discharge the claims of the estate in settling the wrongful death claims of the surviving spouse or other relative. This bill allows the decedent's surviving domestic partner to file an action for wrongful death, to petition the court to set aside amounts of up to 50% of the net settlement or judgment of the wrongful death claims for the support of the domestic partner and allows the domestic partner to discharge the claims of the estate in settling the domestic partner's wrongful death claims.

Under current law, a person has the right to evoke the spousal privilege and prevent the person's current or former spouse from testifying about private communications between the spouses or former spouses, subject to certain exclusions. This bill allows a person to prevent the person's current or former domestic partners from testifying about private communications between the domestic partners or former domestic partners, subject to the same exclusions.

Employee benefits

Worker's compensation. Under current worker's compensation law, when death results from an injury sustained by an employee while performing services growing out of and incidental to employment, the employee's dependents, including a spouse who is living with the employee at the time of death, are entitled to a death benefit. This bill extends death benefits under the worker's compensation law to a state-registered domestic partner (domestic partner) of a deceased employee who is living with the deceased employee at the time of death.

Family leave. Under current law, an employee of an employer employing 50 or more individuals on a permanent basis may take up to six weeks of family leave in a 12-month period to care for a child, spouse, or parent of the employee, or the parent of the spouse of the employee, who has a serious health condition. This bill permits such an employee to take family leave to care for a domestic partner, or the parent of a domestic partner, who has a serious health condition. ✓

Wage and cash bond payments. Under current law, if an employee to whom wages are due dies, the employer must, upon demand, pay the wages to the spouse, children, or other dependent living with the employee at the time of death. The employer may, before an application is filed for the administration of the deceased employee's estate, make that payment to the spouse, children, parents, or siblings of the deceased employee, giving preference in that order listed. ✓

Similarly, if an employee who is required to furnish a cash bond dies, the employer may, before an application is filed for the administration of the deceased employee's estate, withdraw the cash bond and turn it over to the spouse, children, parents, or siblings of the deceased employee, giving preference in that order listed. ✓

This bill requires an employer of a deceased employee who was required to furnish a cash bond or to whom wages are due to turn over the cash bond or pay the wages to the domestic partner of the deceased employee. ✓

✓ Public employee benefits. The bill provides that domestic partners must be treated in the same manner as spouses with respect to all pension benefits provided to public employees who are covered under the Wisconsin Retirement System and all other benefits provided to state employees. ✓

Insurance matters

Under a program in current law, the Department of Health and Family Services (DHFS) provides subsidies to eligible persons to pay premiums for health insurance provided through the person's employer if the person's employment has been terminated or his or her hours have been reduced or he or she is on medical leave because of an illness or condition related to a human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) infection. DHFS may provide the subsidies even if the insurance covers the person's spouse and dependants. The bill provides that DHFS may also provide the subsidies if the insurance covers the person's state-registered domestic partner. ✓

→ ✓ Under current law, a local governmental unit (which includes a city, village, town, county, school district, sewerage district, and drainage district) may provide health and life insurance for employees, officers, and their spouses and dependent children. Under this bill, such coverage may also be provided for an employee's and officer's state-registered domestic partner and dependent children. ✓

✓ Health and mental health care and after-death decision making

Currently, all patient health care records are confidential and, with numerous exceptions, may be released only to persons with the written, informed consent of the patient or of a person authorized by the patient. A "person authorized by the patient" is, for an adult, the patient's guardian, a person authorized in writing by the patient, or the agent under the patient's power of attorney for health care. For a deceased patient, the patient's personal representative or spouse is the person authorized by the patient. If no spouse survives a decedent, an adult member of the deceased ✓

→ patient's immediate family is the person authorized by the patient. The authorization permits inspection and receipt of copies of the patient's health care records. The bill authorizes a state-registered domestic partner of a deceased patient to be the person authorized by the patient for purposes of release of the patient's health care records. ✓

→ Under current law, an individual's treatment records (records of services for mental illness, developmental disability, alcoholism, or drug dependence) generally are confidential and privileged to the individual, but may be released without informed written consent under numerous circumstances. Under one of the circumstances, a spouse, parent, adult child, or sibling who is directly involved in providing care to or monitoring the treatment of an individual may, upon request, receive certain limited information from the individual's mental illness or developmental disability treatment records. Under another circumstance, the parent, child, sibling, or spouse of an individual who is a patient at a public or private treatment hospital, a law enforcement officer, or a mental health professional may receive certain information about the location of the individual, unless the individual has requested that the information be withheld or there is reasonable cause to believe that the information would result in danger to the individual. The bill authorizes the state-registered domestic partner of an individual who is receiving treatment for mental illness or developmental disability to receive information from the treated individual's treatment records and about the individual's location. ✓

→ Currently, certain persons, in a specified order of priority, may consent to admission directly to a hospice or directly from a hospital to a nursing home or community-based residential facility (C-BRF) of an incapacitated individual who does not have a valid power of attorney for health care and has not been adjudicated incompetent. The priority for these persons in relationship to the incapacitated individual is spouse; adult child; parent; adult sibling; grandparent or adult grandchild (for admission to a nursing home or C-BRF); and adult close friend. Consent for admission may not be made if the individual, or certain persons within the order of priority, objects. The bill classifies an incapacitated individual's state-registered domestic partner in the same priority as a spouse for the purpose of admitting the individual to a nursing home, C-BRF, or hospice. ✓

→ Under current law, if both spouses are residents of the same nursing home or C-BRF, they may be permitted to share a room, unless medically contraindicated. The bill permits the sharing of a room by both state-registered domestic partners if both are residents of the same nursing home or C-BRF. ✓

→ The bill requires a hospital, nursing home, community-based residential facility, certified or licensed adult family home, residential care apartment complex, or hospice that has a policy on visiting patients to extend the same right of visitation to a patient's state-registered domestic partner as is accorded the spouse of a patient under the policy. ✓

→ Currently, a health care power of attorney and a durable power of attorney for finances under which the principal's agent is his or her spouse is terminated if the marriage is annulled or ends in divorce. This bill terminates a health care power of attorney and a durable power of attorney for finances under which the principal's agent is his or her state-registered domestic partner if the state-registered domestic partnership is terminated. ✓

Currently, certain reasonably available persons may, under a specified order of priority, make a donation of all or part of another's body near or upon the donor's death (anatomical gift) for use in transplantation or other purposes. The priority in authority for these persons in relationship to the donor is agent under a health care power of attorney, spouse, adult child, parent, adult sibling, adult grandchild, grandparent, adult who has exhibited special care and concern for the donor, guardian, and any other person who has authority to dispose of the individual's body. ✓
An anatomical gift may not be made by any of these persons if the decedent has made an unrevoked refusal or objections to donate or if a majority of members in the same class in priority objects. The bill classifies the decedent's state-registered domestic partner in the same priority as a spouse for the purpose of making an anatomical gift of the decedent's body or part of the decedent's body.

✓ Probate matters

This bill defines a "surviving domestic partner" as a person who was the domestic partner of the decedent at the time of the decedent's death, and mirrors the definition of "surviving spouse" by excluding persons who were the domestic partner of the decedent, a termination of the domestic partnership was sought but the Secretary of State failed to issue a valid certificate of termination for the domestic partnership, unless the person and the decedent subsequently registered as domestic partners or held themselves out as domestic partners. The bill further excludes from the definition of surviving domestic partner persons who were the domestic partner of the decedent but have subsequently married a third person or have registered a domestic partnership with a third person, or a person who was a party to a proceeding that concluded with an order terminating the person's property rights based on the domestic partnership. ✓

This bill establishes that in probate cases, the following rights for the surviving domestic partner of a decedent are equivalent to the rights of a surviving spouse. ✓

1. The surviving domestic partner of a decedent who dies intestate is entitled to inherit all of the decedent's estate unless the decedent had children that were not also the children of the surviving domestic partner, in which case the surviving surviving domestic partner receives half of the intestate estate. ✓

2. A surviving domestic partner may petition the court for the full property interest the decedent had in a home, subject to payment to the estate of the value of that interest the surviving domestic partner is not entitled to under a governing instrument or under intestacy, within one year from the decedent's death. ✓

3. If a decedent executed his or her will before the registration of the domestic partnership, the surviving domestic partner is entitled to a share of the decedent's estate equivalent to what the share would be if the decedent died intestate, subject to certain reductions, unless the will was executed in contemplation of the domestic partnership or was intended to apply notwithstanding the decedent subsequently entering into a domestic partnership. ✓

4. A surviving domestic partner may petition the probate court for an allowance for support, but the court may order that sum be charged against interest or principal and who sought

a person who was

from the estate to which the surviving domestic partner is entitled and the court may apply that allowance against amounts owed for assuming the decedent's full interest in a home. The court may distribute a special allowance for support of the surviving domestic partner even if the distribution of such an allowance would harm the interests of a creditor, after performing a balancing test of the needs of the surviving domestic partner versus the needs of the creditor. ✓

5. A surviving domestic partner may select from the estate certain personal and household items and may be entitled to household items necessary for the maintenance of the home, notwithstanding that those items were bequeathed to another heir. ✓

6. A surviving domestic partner may petition the court to set aside an amount for his or her support of up to $10,000 in value that will be exempt from the claims of the estate's creditors. ✓

7. If the value of the decedent's estate, less the amounts of debt secured by property of the estate, does not exceed $50,000, a surviving domestic partner may settle the estate under summary procedures without the need to appoint a personal representative of the estate. ✓

Property matters

Under current law, if persons named as owners in a document of title or as transferees or buyers in an instrument of transfer are described as husband and wife or are in fact husband and wife, the owners, transferees, or buyers are joint tenants. ✓
The bill provides that state-registered domestic partners are also joint tenants if they are named as owners in a document of title or as transferees or buyers in an instrument of transfer. ✓

Under current law, the transfer of real property between spouses is exempt from the real estate transfer fee. Under the bill, the transfer of real property between an individual and his or her domestic partner is exempt from the real estate transfer fee. ✓

✓ Motor vehicle titles

Under current law, the Department of Transportation (DOT) collects a supplemental vehicle title fee in connection with applications for certificates of title for new vehicles and for vehicles the ownership of which has been transferred. However, this fee is waived for transfer of a decedent's interest in a vehicle to his or her surviving spouse. Also under current law, with an exception, DOT must transfer a decedent's interest in a vehicle to his or her surviving spouse upon receipt of the title executed by the surviving spouse and a statement by the spouse that includes specified information. ✓

Under this bill, a state-registered domestic partner is provided the same privileges as a surviving spouse for purposes of these motor vehicle transfer provisions. ✓

Because this bill relates to an exemption from state or local taxes, it may be referred to the Joint Survey Committee on Tax Exemptions for a report to be printed as an appendix to the bill. ✓

✓ For further information see the state fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
