Fiscal Estimate Narratives

Assumptions Used in Arriving at Fiscal Estimate

Current law allows the victim of a crime or an adult family member if the victim died as a result of the crime or if the victim is younger than 18 years old, the victims' parent or legal guardian, to complete a request for notification of the offender's application for parole or release to extended supervision, release from prison, escape, death while in prison, consideration of early discharge from extended supervision or parole, petition for pardon or placement in a community setting. The victim [or adult family member or parent/legal guardian] may provide written statements and may attend Earned Release Review Commission--ERRC, [formerly the Parole Commission] interviews and release hearings.

This bill provides the same rights to request notification, provide written statements and to attend the ERRC interview or release hearings to the law enforcement agency whose officer was killed and to the head of the bargaining unit representing the officer.

Currently notification is provided by either the Department's Office of Victim Services and/or ERRC. This bill first applies to crimes committed on or after the effective date of the law and it is assumed that there wouldn't be any workload implications for the Department for several years. The Department and the Earned Release Review Commission anticipate that they will be able to absorb any future increased costs [additional notifications, longer hearings] resulting from this legislation.
