Subject: Amendments into Bill Drafts

Cathlene,

Once again we want to thank you for your help during the budget process. At this time we would like to discuss the process of converting our drafted amendments into legislation. However, I don't know if you need to wait for potential vetoes on the bill before drafting bills.

Whenever we are able to get bills on these issues drafted, we would like to get the first few drafted as separate bills.

Other drafts we are interested in getting as separate bills unless specified:

1 AN ACT ...; relating to: the engagement of engineering and similar services by
2 the Department of Transportation. ✓

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau ✓

Under current law, the Department of Transportation (DOT) may engage engineering, consulting, surveying, or other specialized services and this engagement of services is exempt from certain provisions of law relating to state procurement. ✓ Any engagement of services involving an expenditure of $3,000 or more must be by formal contract approved by the governor. ✓ For an engagement of services of more than $300,000, DOT must conduct a uniform cost-benefit analysis before the engagement and must review periodically, and before any renewal, the continued appropriateness of the engagement.

This bill lowers the threshold amount at which an engagement of services requires a uniform cost-benefit analysis and subsequent review from $300,000 to $25,000, which was the threshold amount prior to 2013 Wisconsin Act 20. ✓

For further information see the state fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

3 SECTION 1. 84.01 (13) of the statutes, as affected by 2013 Wisconsin Act 20, is
