✓ Failure to accept suitable work or recall to former employer

Currently, with certain exceptions, if an employee fails, without good cause, to accept suitable work when offered or to return to work with a former employer that recalls the employee within 52 weeks after the employee last worked for the employer, the employee is ineligible to receive benefits until four weeks have elapsed since the end of the week in which the failure occurs and the employee earns wages, or certain other amounts treated as wages, equal to at least four times the employee's weekly benefit rate in employment covered by the unemployment insurance law of any state or the federal government.

Subject to all of the same exceptions and qualifications, the bill changes the number of weeks required to requalify under these provisions to at least ten weeks and changes the amount of wages the employee must earn to requalify under this provision to at least ten times the employee's weekly benefit rate.

Temporary help companies and work search

The bill provides that there is a rebuttable presumption that a claimant who is subject to the UI law's work search requirement has not conducted a reasonable search for suitable work in a given week if: 1) the claimant was last employed by a temporary help company, as defined under current law; 2) during that week, the individual did not contact the temporary help company for an assignment; and 3) the temporary help company submits a notice to the department ~~alleging~~ reporting that the individual failed to so contact the temporary help company. The claimant may overcome the rebuttable presumption only by a showing that the claimant did in fact contact the temporary help company for an assignment or by showing that the claimant had good cause for failing to do so. The bill specifically provides that a claimant's contact of a temporary help company for a given week to avoid the rebuttable presumption counts as one action toward the UI law's work search requirement for that week.

Work search audits of claimants

The bill requires DWD to conduct random audits on claimants for regular UI benefits to assess compliance with the UI law's work search requirement. The bill requires DWD to include in its annual fraud report that is presented to the Council on Unemployment Insurance information about these audits and the number of audits conducted in the previous year.

Online portal for filing complaints

The bill requires DWD to maintain a portal on its Internet site that allows employers to log in and file complaints with DWD related to the administration of the UI law.

Fraud investigation positions

The bill authorizes the creation of three GPR-funded positions in DWD for the investigation of UI fraud and appropriates the necessary moneys to fund the positions

5 Regarding item 11, which corresponds to proposal D12-30, we drafted this item based on 6 the original proposal, not what was ultimately approved by the council, which is different.
7 Also, proposal D12-30 only indicated changes to be made to s. 108.04 (8) (a). I also,
8 however, made corresponding changes to s. 108.04 (8) (c), which addresses recalls by 9 former employers. Also, I used an initial applicability provision for this item based on 10 1991 Wisconsin Act 89, which appears to be the last act to have substantively amended
11 these provisions. Please review it carefully and let us know if you would like any changes
12 to this item.

13 The 3 GPR positions for UI fraud detection are included in this version using figures
14 provided by DWD, to become authorized on the day after the budget is passed. However,
15 to ensure that the positions are authorized as intended, you may instead wish to seek 16 inclusion of the funding for these positions in the biennial budget bill.

9) Finally, regarding the temporary help agency provisions, you may wish to consider any implementation issues with this item, such as how it would work for claimants who left employment with multiple employers at the same time.
