Fiscal Estimate Narratives

Assumptions Used in Arriving at Fiscal Estimate

Senate Bill 46 establishes that an intoxicated adult who injures or kills an infant by co-sleeping is guilty of a specified class of felony. The bill requires the Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Board to purchase, prepare, or arrange with a nonprofit organization to prepare printed and audiovisual materials related to safe sleeping, including the dangers of co-sleeping, and make the materials available to all hospitals and maternity homes; certain nurse-midwives, school boards and nonprofit organizations; all county departments and Indian tribes providing home visitation services under specified statutes; and all providers of prenatal, postpartum, and young child care coordination services under specified statutes. The bill requires the materials to be provided to parents, pupils, home visitation or care coordination service recipients as specified in the bill.

Senate Bill 46 also requires health care providers to provide the parent receiving the safe sleeping information, as specified in the bill, a form that states that the parent has been advised of the risks of intoxicated co-sleeping and will share the information with all persons caring for the infant. In addition, the health care provider is required to include a statement in the mother's medical records that the printed materials and form have been provided and that the audiovisual materials have been made available or a parent has been informed of their availability.

The Department anticipates that the bill may increase administrative costs to healthcare providers who participate in the Medicaid program, associated with the material and form distribution and medical record documentation requirements of this bill. In CY 12, there were an estimated 33,249 births in Wisconsin where Medicaid was the primary payer. However, in general, Medicaid reimburses providers according to fixed rates, and the bill does not increase those reimbursement rates. Therefore, the bill would not increase Medicaid benefit costs.

In addition, the Medicaid program may incur costs related to tracking additional data elements, including potential changes to the reporting registry and/or additional review requirements of the External Quality Review Organization (EQRO) as part of annual chart reviews for health homes serving pregnant women. This increase in costs is indeterminate.

There is no anticipated fiscal impact to local human service agencies.
