Assumptions Used in Arriving at Fiscal Estimate

Under current law, a hospital can receive grants to fund additional positions for family medicine, general surgery, pediatrics, psychiatry, and internal medicine residents at their facilities. This bill would allow hospitals to receive grants for addiction medicine or addiction psychiatry specialists if they are both practicing the categories listed and enrolled in an existing accredited graduate medical training program.

Under current law, a hospital can receive grants to establish a graduate medical training program for programs in family medicine, general surgery, pediatrics, psychiatry, and internal medicine at rural hospitals. This bill would also permit the grants to be used to create of addiction medicine or addiction psychiatry training programs for physicians practicing the specialties listed at rural hospitals.

The bill provides $63,000 GPR to support grants for additional fellowships in existing graduate medical training programs. The grants to establish a graduate medical addiction medicine training program will be provided through the same GPR-funded grants graduate medical training programs can apply for now.
