Under Wisconsin's "Huber law," any person sentenced to a county jail, or certain other facilities, for reasons specified in s. 303.08, Stats., may be granted the privilege of leaving the jail during necessary and reasonable hours for several purposes, including employment.

2017 ASSEMBLY BILL 424

Assembly Bill 424 allows a probationer confined in a county jail or county house of correction for a probation violation to participate in Huber release. To be eligible for Huber release the person must have been placed on probation for a misdemeanor and the probation violation for which he or she is confined is not a crime. Under the bill, the sheriff or superintendent of the house of correction, in conjunction with the Department of Corrections (DOC) is responsible for determining a probationer's eligibility to participate and may terminate participation at any time. The purposes for which Huber release may be granted to a probationer confined on a probation hold include the following:

- Seeking employment or engaging in employment training.
- Working at employment.
- Performing court-ordered community service.
- Medical treatment.

ASSEMBLY AMENDMENT 1

Assembly Amendment 1 allows a probationer confined in a tribal jail for a probation violation to participate in Huber release if the probationer meets the requirements specified in the bill. Similar to the bill, under the amendment, the tribal police of chief, in conjunction with the DOC, is responsible for determining eligibility for Huber release.
