2019 Assembly Bill 796

Assembly
Amendment 1

2019 ASSEMBLY BILL 796

2019 Assembly Bill 796 appropriates $1 million in fiscal year 2020-21 for a nitrogen optimization pilot program. The bill requires the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection (DATCP) to award grants of up to $50,000 to agricultural producers through the program. In conjunction with a grant to an agricultural producer, the bill authorizes DATCP to award up to 20 percent of the amount of the grant awarded to an agricultural producer to “eligible university entities” – namely the College of Agricultural and Life Sciences at the University of Wisconsin (UW)-Madison, the Center for Watershed Science and Education at UW-Stevens Point, and the UW-Extension.

Grants awarded to agricultural producers must be used to implement a project, for at least two growing seasons, that reduces nitrogen loading or uses nitrogen at an optimal rate while protecting water quality, including by reducing nitrogen application despite a decrease in crop yield, by growing a crop that requires less nitrogen or that is nitrogen fixing, or by expanding or conserving wetlands. An agricultural producer receiving a grant under the program must collaborate with the university entities to fit the needs of the academic research conducted by those entities.

ASSEMBLY AMENDMENT 1

Assembly Amendment 1 clarifies that the entire grant to an agricultural producer and a university entity is limited to $50,000 and that, of that amount, up to 20 percent may be awarded to the university entity.
