Ag 97.06 Applied research studies. (1) Monies collected from the per barrel assessment charges as prescribed under section Ag 97.04 (1) shall be budgeted and an amount designated for applied research studies. Under this provision the director may carry on or cause to be carried on research, surveys, and economic studies as may be applied to production, processing and/or distribution of cranberries. Such research and survey studies may include, but shall not be limited to, developing new and improved varieties, production practices, including use of chemicals for insect, weed, and disease control, developing objective quality and maturity factors for cranberries, improving methods and techniques of harvesting cranberries and initiate studies and surveys especially as they might apply to packaging, handling, and marketing techniques to promote more efficient operations. The director in addition to activities enumerated above may carry on any other necessary and proper research and survey activities consistent with and subject to the restrictions and limitations of the Wisconsin Agricultural Marketing Act.

(2) In carrying out such plans and activities as described in this section, the director may contract with any person, agency or institution qualified to best perform this service.

Note: Section 96.08, Wis. Stats., provides that every marketing order shall terminate 3 years from the date of its issuance or last assent, but that a referendum shall be conducted to determine whether the marketing order shall remain in effect. Since chapter Ag 97, the marketing order for cranberries, was due to terminate on August 31, 1968, a referendum was conducted by mail during the 15-day period ending August 19, 1968. In such referendum the cranberry producers of Wisconsin approved the continuation of this marketing order. Chapter Ag 97 will therefore remain in effect for a further period of 3 years from August 19, 1968, the date of last assent.
