

CHAPTER 144.

[Published March 24, 1870.]

AN ACT to amend section four of chapter 130 of the general laws of 1868, entitled "an act to provide for the assessment of property for taxation (of property) and the levy of taxes thereon."

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section four of chapter one hundred and thirty of the general laws of 1868, is hereby amended so as to read as follows: Section 4. The members of the state senate in conjunction with the secretary of state, shall form a board of assessors. Said board shall meet at the capitol, in the city of Madison, on the third Wednesday in May, 1870, and biennially thereafter. The secretary of state shall perform [prepare] and lay before said board, the latest statistics of population, local valuation of property, and such other statistical information as he may be able to obtain in relation to the several counties in the state, as in his judgment will assist said board in their deliberations. The board shall carefully examine said statistics, and [from] all the sources of information accessible to them, they shall determine and assess the relative value of all the property subject to taxation in each county in the state. They shall set down in a list of all the counties aforesaid, opposite to the name of each county, the valuation thereof, so determined by them, which shall be the full value according to their best judgment. The list so prepared shall be certified by the chairman and secretary, as the state assessment made by said board, and delivered with the journal of the proceedings of the board to the secretary of state.

SECTION 2. Section six of chapter one hundred and thirty of the general laws of 1868, is hereby amended so as to read as follows: The secretary of state shall apportion the state tax levied for the year among the several counties, and shall carry out opposite to the name of such county on the list aforesaid,
