1. Hunting, fishing, and trapping approvals

This bill authorizes DNR to develop a system under which, when a person purchases an approval, the person may opt to automatically purchase the same approval for subsequent years. Under current law, "approval" is defined as any type of hunting, fishing, or trapping approval, privilege, or authorization issued or conferred by DNR, including any license, permit, certificate, card, stamp, preference point, or tag, but not including a conservation card. Under the bill, DNR may contract with a third party to store customer information in order to carry out this system.
