

WISCONSIN LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL ACT MEMO

2015 Wisconsin Act 111
[2015 Senate Bill 282]

Lake Bed Grant to Brown County

2015 WISCONSIN ACT 111

Act 111 amends a 1977 legislative lake bed grant to Brown County to convey to the county an additional parcel of approximately four acres of lake bed in Green Bay that is currently used as a causeway to Renard Island.

The Act specifies that this additional parcel would be conveyed to Brown County to use for public slips, basins, docks, wharves, structures, wildlife refuges, recreation and park purposes. The Act further specifies that the county may erect structures on this land that are limited to facilitating public use of and access to the land, construction and maintenance of aids to navigation, and construction and maintenance of the land. The Act prohibits Brown County from conveying all of any part of the land to any person other than the state, a political subdivision of the state, or a special purpose district of the state.
