Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

This bill extends the state employment labor relations act to cover the members of the faculty and academic staff of the University of Wisconsin (UW) System. Excluded from coverage are members of the faculty and academic staff of the University of Wisconsin–Extension, management employes and confidential employes.

Under the bill, UW faculty and academic staff members are expressly guaranteed the right of self-organization. Collective bargaining is expressly authorized and required with certified representative organizations in relation to specified subjects of bargaining. Mandatory subjects of bargaining are salaries, fringe benefits and hours and conditions of employment. Bargaining is not required on certain subjects reserved to the management and direction of the university, except that procedures for the adjustment of grievances arising out of disciplinary actions are a mandatory subject of bargaining. In addition, bargaining is not permitted regarding the structure, mission and goals of the UW System, and matters affecting the statutory rights and responsibilities of students.

Bargaining units are structured so that the faculty and academic staff of the UW-Madison bargain as 2 separate units; the faculty and academic staff of the UW-Milwaukee bargain as 2 separate units; and the faculty and academic staff of each of the other UW campuses and the faculty and academic staff of the UW-Center System bargain as 2 separate units, with one unit for all faculty members on all of these campuses and one unit for all academic staff members on all of these campuses. Employees may vote to merge units, and employees in a merged unit may vote to redivide the unit. The faculty and academic staff of each campus or the Center System may decide individually whether to participate in bargaining. In the multicampus collective bargaining units, once a campus elects to participate in collective bargaining, it may not elect to withdraw from participation except in conjunction with the other campuses that have elected to participate, and in conjunction with the UW-Center System if the system elects to participate. Once the UW-Center System elects to participate in collective bargaining, it may not elect to withdraw from participation except in conjunction with the campuses in the multicampus unit that have elected to participate.

Employees in the bargaining units have the right to vote in an election conducted by the employment relations commission as to whether there shall be collective bargaining and, if so, with which representative. The votes for representative are counted at a campus or at the UW-Center System only if the campus or the center system elects to participate in collective bargaining. Responsibilities of the state as an employer are handled under the bill by the department of employment relations. However, the department is directed to maintain close liaison with the board of regents of the UW System with respect to collective bargaining activities involving UW faculty and academic staff.

The unfair labor practices currently applicable to represented employees are extended to apply to the members of the UW faculty and academic staff, to their labor unions and to the state as their employer.

No compulsory means of dispute settlement are provided.

Strikes are prohibited. Strikes constitute an unfair labor practice and may be enjoined by a court. Currently, strikes by faculty and academic staff members are not authorized, but no law specifically treats the matter.

“Fair-share” (agency shop) and “maintenance of membership” agreements similar to those currently provided for represented employees are authorized. Under a fair-share agreement, the UW must deduct the amount of dues uniformly required of all members of a union for the cost of the collective bargaining process and contract administration from the paychecks of all employees in the bargaining unit represented by that union, regardless of whether the employees are union members, and pay the total amount deducted to the union. A fair-share agreement requires the approval of two-thirds of the employees voting in a unit before it may take effect; it may also be discontinued according to a similar procedure. Under a maintenance of membership agreement, the UW must deduct the amount of dues uniformly required of all members of a union for the cost of the collective bargaining process and contract administration from the paychecks of all employees in the bargaining unit who are members of the union, and all employees who are hired after the effective date of the agreement, and pay the total amount deducted to the union. A maintenance of membership agreement requires the approval of a majority of the employees voting in a unit before it may become effective, and may also be discontinued according to a similar procedure. If the faculty or academic staff at any institution votes not to participate in collective bargaining, that group does not participate in any fair-share or maintenance of membership agreement.

Currently, faculty and academic staff members are entitled to participate in the immediate governance and policy development at the institutions where they serve. The bill provides that, when a labor union is certified to represent faculty or academic staff members at an institution, this participation in governance and policy development does not extend to mandatory subjects of bargaining with the union or subjects that are treated in a collective bargaining agreement with the union.

Currently, no employment relations act applies to members of the UW faculty or academic staff. Although members of the faculty and academic staff may organize and join labor unions, the state is not required to recognize or bargain collectively with them by statute. The employment relations commission has no responsibility to conduct elections, mediate disputes, arbitrate grievances or adjudicate alleged unfair labor practices involving members of the faculty or academic staff and their employer.

For further information see the state fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.

15 unit desires to combine into a single unit. A combined collective bargaining unit shall 24 participating in the election as indicated in petitions filed with the commission. The 25 name of any existing representative shall be included on the ballot without the

1 necessity of filing a petition. The commission may exclude from the ballot one who,
2 at the time of the election, stands deprived of his or her rights under this subchapter
3 by reason of a prior adjudication of his or her having engaged in an unfair labor
4 practice. The ballot shall be so prepared as to permit a vote against representation
5 by anyone named on the ballot. For elections in collective bargaining units composed 6 of employes who are members of the faculty or academic staff, whenever more than 7 one representative qualifies to appear on the ballot, the ballot shall be prepared to 8 provide separate votes on 2 questions. The first question shall be: "Shall the 9 employes of the .... (name of collective bargaining unit) participate in collective 10 bargaining?". The 2nd question shall be: "If the employes of the .... (name of 11 collective bargaining unit) elect to participate in collective bargaining, which labor 12 organization do you favor to act as representative of the employes?". The 2nd 13 question shall not include a choice for no representative. All employes in the 14 collective bargaining unit may vote on both questions. Unless a majority of those 15 employes voting in the election votes to participate in collective bargaining, no votes
16 for a particular representative may be counted. If a majority of those employes voting 17 in the election votes to participate in collective bargaining, the ballots for 18 representatives shall be counted. In the collective bargaining units specified in s.
19 111.825 (2) (g) and (j), only those ballots for representatives cast at those institutions 20 at which a majority of the employes voting in the election votes to participate in 21 collective bargaining shall be counted in determining the representative. The 22 commission's certification of the results of any election is conclusive as to the findings 23 included therein unless reviewed under s. 111.07 (8).

24 SECTION 11. 111.83 (4) of the statutes is renumbered 111.83 (4) (a) and amended 25 to read:

2           collective bargaining unit specified in s. 111.825 (1) or (2) (a) to (e) in which the name
3           of more than one proposed representative appears on the ballot and results in no 4           conclusion, the commission may, if requested by any party to the proceeding within 5           30 days from the date of the certification of the results of the election, conduct a runoff
6           election. In that runoff election, the commission shall drop from the ballot the name 7           of the representative who received the least number of votes at the original election.
8           The commission shall drop from the ballot the privilege of voting against any 9           representative if the least number of votes cast at the first election was against 10          representation by any named representative.

11           SECTION 12. 111.83 (4) (b) of the statutes is created to read:

12           111.83 (4) (b) Whenever an election has been conducted under sub. (3) in a 13          collective bargaining unit specified in s. 111.825 (2) (em) to (j) in which a majority of 14          the employes voting indicates a desire to participate in collective bargaining but in 15          which no named representative is favored by a majority of the employes voting, the 16          commission may, if requested by any party to the proceeding within 30 days from the 17          date of the certification of the results of the election, conduct a runoff election. In that 18          runoff election, the commission shall drop from the ballot the name of the 19          representative who received the least number of votes at the original election. In the 20          collective bargaining unit specified in s. 111.825 (2) (g) or (j), only the employes at 21          those institutions at which a majority of those employes voting in the election votes 22          to participate in collective bargaining shall be permitted to vote in the runoff election.

23           SECTION 13. 111.83 (5) (a) to (c), (h) and (i) of the statutes are amended to read:

24           111.83 (5) (a) This subsection applies only to the collective bargaining unit 25          units specified in s. 111.825 (2) (c), (g) and (j).

ASSEMBLY BILL 6*SECTION 13

1 (b) Upon filing of a petition with the commission indicating a showing of 2 interest of at least 30% of the employees at an institution who are included within a 3 collective bargaining unit to be represented by a labor organization, the commission
4 shall hold an election in which the employees in that unit at that institution may vote
5 on the question of representation. The labor organization named in any such petition
6 shall be included on the ballot. Within 60 days of the time that an original petition 7 is filed, another petition may be filed with the commission indicating a showing of 8 interest of at least 10% of the employees at the same institution who are included in 9 the same collective bargaining unit to be represented by another labor organization, 10 in which case the name of that labor organization shall be included on the ballot. If 11 more than one original petition is filed within a 30-day period concerning employees
12 in the collective bargaining unit specified in s. 111.825 (2) (c), ~~the results of (g) or (j),~~ 13 all elections held pursuant to the petitions shall be announced by the commission at 14 the same time. The ballot elections shall be held on the same day and the ballots for 15 all of the elections shall be prepared in accordance with sub. (3), except as otherwise 16 provided in this subsection.

17 (c) Notwithstanding s. 111.825 (2) (c), (g) and (j), the employees at any institution
18 included within the collective bargaining unit at which no petition is filed and no 19 election is held or at which the employees indicate, by a majority of those voting in an 20 election, a desire not to participate in collective bargaining are not considered to be 21 a part of that collective bargaining unit. In the collective bargaining units specified 22 in s. 111.825 (2) (g) and (j), once the employees at any institution vote to participate 23 in collective bargaining, the commission shall not determine the votes of employees 24 on that question at that institution at a future election except in conjunction with the 25 votes of the employees at the other institutions in the collective bargaining unit.

1 (h) If a petition is filed under sub. (6) for the discontinuance of existing 2 representation indicating a showing of interest by 30% of the total number of 3 employes at all institutions at which employes in the collective bargaining unit have 4 voted to become a part of the unit, the commission shall hold an election on that 5 question at all such institutions. If In the collective bargaining unit specified in s.
6 111.825 (2) (c), if a petition is filed under sub. (6) for the discontinuance of existing 7 representation indicating a showing of interest by 30% of the employes at one or 8 more, but not all, of the institutions at which employes in the collective bargaining
9 unit have voted to become a part of the unit, the commission shall hold an election 10 on that question only at the institution or institutions at which the showing is made.
11 In such an election, the only question appearing on the ballot shall be whether the 12 employes desire to participate in collective bargaining.

13 (i) If a petition is filed under sub. (6) for a change of existing representation, 14 the commission shall hold an election on the question in accordance with par. (b), 15 except that participation shall be limited to employes at those institutions included 16 in the collective bargaining unit who have previously voted to become a part of the 17 unit. Runoff elections shall be held, as provided in par. (e), when necessary. At any 18 such election, if a majority of the total number of employes included in the collective 19 bargaining unit at all institutions at which employes have voted to become a part of 20 the unit elect not to participate in collective bargaining, regardless of the result of 21 the vote at any single institution, no representative may be certified by the 22 commission to represent the employes at any institution within that collective 23 bargaining unit, unless a new petition and election is held under par. (b). ~~However~~ 24 In the collective bargaining unit specified in s. 111.825 (2) (c), if a majority of the total 25 number of employes included in the collective bargaining unit at all institutions at

1 which employes have voted to become a part of the unit elect to participate in 2 collective bargaining, but a majority of the employes at one or more of the institutions 3 elect not to participate in collective bargaining, then only the employes at those 4 institutions electing not to participate shall not be considered a part of that collective 5 bargaining unit. In the collective bargaining unit specified in s. 111.825 (2) (g) or (j), 6 if the employes at an institution vote to become a part of the unit, the commission
7 shall not accept a petition for an election on the question of withdrawal from the unit.
