2 and providing a penalty.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Current law prohibits a person from intentionally disarming a peace officer who is acting in his or her official capacity. Disarming a peace officer involves taking a dangerous weapon or a device such as a tear gas or pepper spray canister from the officer without his or her consent. A person who is convicted of disarming a peace officer may be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned for not more than two years or both, if the offense occurs before December 31, 1999. If the offense occurs on or after December 31, 1999, a person who is convicted of disarming a peace officer may be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned for not more than five years or both.

This bill increases the maximum term of imprisonment for disarming a peace officer to 10 years for offenses that occur before December 31, 1999, and to 15 years for offenses that occur on or after December 31, 1999. The bill does not change the maximum fine.
