2 and to create 111.32 (4r), 111.32 (7g) and 111.365 of the statutes; relating to:
3 employment discrimination because of temporary absence from work while 4 responding to an emergency call as a volunteer fire fighter, emergency medical 5 technician, first responder, or ambulance driver.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Current law prohibits discrimination in employment on the basis of age, race, creed, color, disability, marital status, sex, national origin, ancestry, sexual orientation, arrest record, conviction record, membership in the national guard, state defense force, or military reserves, or use or nonuse of a lawful product off the employer's premises during nonworking hours. Current law also specifies that employment discrimination because of creed or disability includes refusing to reasonably accommodate the religious observance or practice or disability of an employee or prospective employee unless the employer can demonstrate that the accommodation would pose an undue hardship on the employer's program, enterprise, or business.

This bill prohibits discrimination in employment based on temporary absence from work while responding to an emergency call as a volunteer fire fighter, emergency medical technician, first responder, or ambulance driver. The bill specifies that employment discrimination on that basis includes refusing to reasonably accommodate the temporary absence of an employee or prospective employee from work while responding to an emergency call as a volunteer fire fighter, emergency medical technician, first responder, or ambulance driver unless the employer can demonstrate that the accommodation would pose an undue hardship on the employer's program, enterprise, or business. Under the bill, an employer may reasonably accommodate a temporary absence from work for that purpose by temporarily reallocating job duties, adjusting or modifying the employer's attendance policies, or making other, similar accommodations for the employee or prospective employee. The bill defines "undue hardship" as significant difficulty or expense, with respect to an accommodation for an employee or prospective employee, when considered in light of various factors such as the nature and cost of the accommodation, the overall financial resources of the employer and of the facility, involved in providing the accommodation, the number of persons employed by the employer and by the facility and the type of operation of the employer. The bill also specifies that, if providing the accommodation would result in more than 25% of the persons normally on duty in any particular function or operation at the time of the accommodation being temporarily absent from work or would result in a paid fire fighter, emergency medical technician, first responder, or ambulance driver being temporarily absent from work while on duty as a paid fire fighter, emergency medical technician, first responder, or ambulance driver, it is presumed that the accommodation would pose an unreasonable hardship on the employer's program, business, or enterprise.

4 products off the employer's premises during nonworking hours, or temporary 5 absence from work while responding to an emergency call as a volunteer fire fighter, 6 emergency medical technician, first responder, or ambulance driver.

7 SECTION 7. 111.322 (intro.) of the statutes is amended to read:

12 responders' or ambulance drivers; exceptions and special cases. (1) In this 13 section, "undue hardship" means, with respect to an accommodation required under 14 sub. (2), significant difficulty or expense, when considered in light of the following 15 factors:

16 (a) The nature and cost of the accommodation.

17 (b) The overall financial resources of the facility involved in providing the 18 accommodation, the number of persons employed by the facility, the effect of 19 providing the accommodation on the resources and finances of the facility, and any 20 other impact of the accommodation on the operation of the facility.

21 (c) The overall financial resources of the employer, the number of persons 22 employed by the employer, and the number, type, and location of the employer's

1 involved in providing the accommodation from the employer, and the administrative 2 and financial relationship of that facility to the employer.

3 (2) Employment discrimination because of temporary absence from work while 4 responding to an emergency call as a volunteer fire fighter, emergency medical 5 technician, first responder, or ambulance driver includes refusing to reasonably 6 accommodate the temporary absence of an employee or prospective employee from 7 work while responding to an emergency call as a volunteer fire fighter, emergency 8 medical technician, first responder, or ambulance driver unless the employer can 9 demonstrate that the accommodation would pose an undue hardship on the 10 employer's program, enterprise, or business. If providing the accommodation would 11 result in more than 25% of the persons normally on duty in any particular function
12 or operation at the time of the accommodation being temporarily absent from work 13 or would result in a paid fire fighter, emergency medical technician, first responder, 14 or ambulance driver being temporarily absent from work while on duty as a paid fire 15 fighter, emergency medical technician, first responder, or ambulance driver, it is 16 presumed that the accommodation would pose an undue hardship on the employer's 17 program, enterprise, or business. An employer may reasonably accommodate the 18 temporary absence of an employee or prospective employee from work while 19 responding to an emergency call as a volunteer fire fighter, emergency medical 20 technician, first responder, or ambulance driver by temporarily reallocating job 21 duties, adjusting or modifying the employer's attendance policies, or making other,
