SENATE BILL 333

1 entered against him or her a domestic abuse, child abuse, individual-at-risk
2 abuse, or harassment temporary restraining order or injunction in the
3 preceding 15 years from being licensed, certified, or contracted with to provide
4 child care, from being employed or contracted as a caregiver of a child care
5 provider, or from being permitted to reside at a premises where child care is 6 provided; requiring suspected fraudulent activity on the part of a participant
7 in the Wisconsin Works Program, including a person receiving a child care
8 subsidy under that program, to be reported to the district attorney; making an
9 appropriation; and providing a penalty.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, the Department of Children and Families (DCF) may not license a person to operate a day care center; DCF in a county having a population of 500,000 or more, a county department of human services or social services (county department), or an agency contracted by DCF to certify day care providers for purposes of reimbursement under the Wisconsin Works Program (contracted agency) may not certify a day care provider for those purposes; and a school board may not contract with a person to provide a day care program (collectively “child care provider”) if the person has been convicted or adjudicated delinquent on or after his or her 12th birthday for committing a serious crime, as defined under current law, unless the person shows that he or she has been rehabilitated.

Similarly, a child care provider may not employ or contract with a caregiver or permit a nonclient resident to reside at a premises where child care is provided if the caregiver or nonclient resident has been convicted or adjudicated delinquent on or after his or her 12th birthday for committing a serious crime, as defined under current law, unless the caregiver or nonclient resident shows that he or she has been rehabilitated. Currently, “serious crime” is defined to include certain crimes against life or bodily security and certain crimes against children that are felonies.

This bill prohibits any person who has been convicted or adjudicated delinquent on or after his or her 12th birthday for committing any of the following serious crimes or who is the subject of a pending criminal charge or delinquency petition alleging that the person has committed any of the following serious crimes on or after his or her 12th birthday from being licensed, certified, or contracted with to provide child care, from being employed or contracted as a caregiver of a child care provider, or from being permitted to be a nonclient resident of a premises where child care is provided and prohibits such a person from showing that he or she has been rehabilitated:

SENATE BILL 333

1. Any crime against children, other than failure to pay child support or hazing.
2. Felony battery, if the victim is the spouse of the person.
3. First-degree or second-degree intentional or reckless homicide, felony murder, mayhem, felony sexual assault, reckless injury, taking hostages, kidnapping, felony endangering safety by use of a dangerous weapon, disarming a police officer, armed burglary, carjacking, or armed robbery.
4. A misdemeanor involving sexual abuse, child abuse, or domestic abuse, if the person has ever been convicted or adjudicated delinquent for committing any felony.
5. Any drug or alcohol-related felony, felony battery, sexual exploitation by a therapist, abuse of an adult-at-risk, abuse or neglect of a patient, video voyeurism, felony failure to pay child support, or felony hazing, if the person has ever been convicted or adjudicated delinquent for committing any other crime.
6. Any drug or alcohol-related felony, felony battery, sexual exploitation by a therapist, abuse of an adult-at-risk, abuse or neglect of a patient, video voyeurism, felony failure to pay child support, or felony hazing, if the person has never been convicted or adjudicated delinquent for committing any other crime and the person completed his or her sentence, including any probation, parole, or extended supervision, or was discharged by the Department of Corrections (DOC), less than ten years before the date of the background investigation of the person.
7. A misdemeanor involving sexual abuse, child abuse, or domestic abuse, if the person has never been convicted or adjudicated delinquent for committing a felony, but has ever been convicted or adjudicated delinquent for committing any other misdemeanor, and the person completed his or her sentence, including any probation, parole, or extended supervision, or was discharged by the DOC, less than ten years before the date of the background investigation of the person.
8. A misdemeanor involving sexual abuse, child abuse, or domestic abuse, if the person has never been convicted or adjudicated delinquent for committing any other misdemeanor, and the person completed his or her sentence, including any probation, parole, or extended supervision, or was discharged by the DOC, less than five years before the date of the background investigation of the person.

The bill also prohibits a person who has had entered against him or her a domestic abuse, child abuse, individual-at-risk abuse, or harassment temporary restraining order or injunction (TRO or injunction) in the 15 years preceding the background investigation of the person from being licensed, certified, or contracted with to provide child care, from being employed or contracted as a caregiver of a child care provider, or from being permitted to be a nonclient resident of a premises where child care is provided, but permits such a person to show that he or she has been rehabilitated.

Current law requires DCF, a county department, a contracting agency, or a school board, prior to licensing, certifying, or contracting with a child care provider and every four years after that, to conduct a criminal history search of the child care provider, of all nonclient residents of the premises where the child care is provided, and of all persons under 18 years of age who are caregivers of the child care provider and to obtain certain other information with respect to those individuals, specifically: 1) information from the client abuse registry maintained by the Department of Health Services (DHS); 2) information maintained by the Department of Regulation and Licensing regarding the individual's credentials; 3) information maintained by DCF regarding any substantiated reports of child abuse or neglect against the individual; and 4) information maintained by DHS regarding any denial of a license, certification, or contract to provide child care, of employment as a caregiver of a child care provider, or of permission to reside at a premises where child care is provided. Similarly, current law also requires a child care provider to conduct such a criminal history search and to obtain that information with respect to a caregiver 18 years of age or over prior to employing or contracting with the caregiver and every four years after that.

This bill requires DCF, a county department, a contracting agency, or a school board to conduct that criminal history search and to obtain that information every 90 days after a child care provider is licensed, certified, or contracted with and requires a child care provider to conduct that criminal history search and to obtain that information every 90 days after a caregiver 18 years of age or over is employed or contracted with. In addition, the bill requires DCF, a county department, a contracting agency, or a school board, prior to licensing, certifying, or contracting with a child care provider and every 90 days after that, to obtain information that is contained in the sex offender registry maintained by DOC regarding whether the person has committed a sex offense that is a serious crime and information that is contained in the circuit court automated information system regarding any pending criminal charge or delinquency petition alleging that a child care provider, a nonclient resident of the premises where the child care is provided, or a person under 18 years of age who is a caregiver of the child care provider has committed a serious crime and regarding any TRO or injunction entered against such a provider, nonclient resident, or caregiver, and requires a child care provider to obtain that information with respect to a caregiver 18 years of age or over prior to employing or contracting with the caregiver and every 90 days after that.

Under current law, DCF may revoke the license of a person to operate a day care center if the licensee or a person under the supervision of the licensee commits certain actions, including a repeated or substantial violation of a rule or order of DCF or of a condition of licensure or an action that directly threatens the health, safety, or welfare of any child under the care of the licensee. Similarly, under current law, DCF or a county department may refuse to pay a child care provider for child care provided under the Wisconsin Works Program if the child care provider, an employee of the child care provider, or a person living on the premises where child care is provided is convicted of a felony or misdemeanor that substantially relates to the care of children, is the subject of a pending charge that substantiality relates to the care of children, or has been determined to have abused or neglected a child.

This bill requires all of the following:

1. DCF to revoke the license of a day care center; DCF in a county having a population of 500,000 or more, a county department, or a contracted agency to revoke the certification of a day care provider for purposes of reimbursement under the Wisconsin Works Program; and a school board to rescind the contract of the person to operate a day care program; if the person licensed to operate the day care center, the person certified as a child care provider, or the person contracting to provide the day care program is convicted of a serious crime or if a caregiver or nonclient resident of the day care center, child care provider, or day care program is convicted or adjudicated delinquent for committing a serious crime on or after his or her 12th birthday. The bill also requires DCF or a county department to refuse to pay a child care provider in those circumstances or if the child care provider has been convicted of a crime involving financial dishonesty beginning on the date of the conviction or delinquency adjudication.

2. DCF to immediately suspend the license of a day care center; DCF in a county having a population of 500,000 or more, a county department, or a contracted agency to immediately suspend the certification of a day care provider for purposes of reimbursement under the Wisconsin Works Program; and a school board to immediately suspend the contract of a person to operate a day care program; if the person licensed to operate the day care center, the person certified as a child care provider, or the person contracting to provide the day care program is the subject of a pending criminal charge alleging that the person has committed a serious crime or if a caregiver or nonclient resident of the day care center, child care provider, or day care program is the subject of a pending charge or delinquency petition alleging that the person has committed a serious crime on or after his or her 12th birthday. The bill also requires DCF or a county department to immediately suspend payment to a child care provider for any child care provided under the Wisconsin Works Program in those circumstances or if the child care provider is the subject of a pending criminal charge alleging that he or she has committed a crime involving financial dishonesty until DCF or the county department obtains information regarding the final disposition of the charge or delinquency proceeding indicating that the person is not ineligible to receive such a payment.

3. DCF to investigate the circumstances giving rise to a TRO or injunction entered against a day care center; DCF in a county having a population of 500,000 or more, a county department, or a contracted agency to investigate the circumstances giving rise to a TRO or injunction entered against a day care provider who is certified for purposes of reimbursement under the Wisconsin Works Program; and a school board to investigate the circumstances giving rise to a TRO or injunction entered against a person contracted to operate a day care program. DCF, the county department, the agency, or the school board may then suspend or revoke the license, certification, or contract, depending on the gravity of those circumstances. DCF or a county department may also suspend or discontinue payment to a child care provider for any child care provided under the Wisconsin Works Program in those circumstances, depending on the gravity of those circumstances.

Finally, the bill requires any employee of DCF, DHS, a county, or a tribal governing body who reasonably suspects fraudulent activity on the part of a participant in the Wisconsin Works Program, including a person receiving a child care subsidy under that program, to immediately report the facts and circumstances contributing to that suspicion to the district attorney, who must keep the identity of the reporter confidential until the district attorney determines whether the report merits further investigation. If the district attorney conducts a full investigation, the district attorney must keep the identity of the reporter confidential if it is reasonably possible to do so. Any person who fails to report as required under the bill may be fined $1,000 or imprisoned not more than six months or both. Any person who participates in good faith in making a report as required under the bill or in imitating, participating in, or testifying in, any action or proceeding in which such fraudulent activity is alleged is immune from any liability, civil or criminal, that results by reason of that action. The bill also prohibits DCF, DHS, a county, a tribal governing body, or an employee of DCF, DHS, a county, or a tribal governing body from taking disciplinary action against, or threatening to take disciplinary action against, any person because the person in good faith reported as required under the bill or initiated, participated in, or testified in, any action or proceeding in which such fraudulent activity was alleged or because DCF, DHS, the county, the tribal governing body, or the employee believes that the person reported in good faith as required under the bill or initiated, participated in, or testified in, such an action or proceeding.
