4.001 Principles of legislative apportionment. Based on the certified official results of the 1970 census of population of Wisconsin, as published by the U.S. bureau of the census in publication PC(1)-A51 Wis. (as corrected on page 51-6 thereof), the state is divided into 33 senate districts each composed of 3 assembly districts.

(1) All senate districts, and all assembly districts, are as equal in the number of inhabitants as practicable within the guidelines further set forth in this section, but no district deviates from the state-wide average for districts of its type by more than one per cent. Because the certified total number of inhabitants of this state on the 1970 census date was 4,417,933, each of the 33 senate districts contains approximately 133,877 inhabitants and each of the 99 assembly districts contains approximately 44,626 inhabitants.

(2) In designing the districts, the following factors are considered as coequal in precedence: compactness, contiguity of area, and community of interest. Island territory (territory belonging to a city, town or village but not contiguous to the main part thereof) is considered a contiguous part of its municipality.

(3) County lines have been observed to the extent consistent with sub. (1).

History: 1971 c. 304.

4.002 Construction. The following conventions are used in this chapter where territory is described by geographic boundaries:

(1) Each bound continues to the intersection with the bound next named, or to the intersection with a straight-line extension of such bound.

(2) If the bound is a street, it follows the centerline of such street or the centerline of such street extended.

(3) If the bound is a railroad right-of-way, it follows the centerline of such railroad right-of-way.

(4) If the bound is a river or stream, it follows the center of the main channel of such river or stream.

(5) If the bound follows a municipal boundary, it coincides with such boundary.

History: 1971 c. 304.

4.003 Elections to the legislature. Beginning on May 9, 1972, all elections to the legislature, including elections for the balance of an unexpired term, shall be from the districts as described in ss. 4.01 to 4.33.

History: 1971 c. 304, 336.

4.004 Territory omitted from legislative redistricting. (1) In case any town, village or ward in existence on the effective date of a legislative redistricting act has not been included in any assembly district, such town, village or ward shall be a part of the assembly district by which it is surrounded or, if it falls on the boundary between 2 or more districts, of the adjacent assembly district having the lowest population according to the federal census upon which the redistricting act is based.

(2) The boundaries of legislative districts

4.004 LEGISLATIVE DISTRICTS

established by this chapter are not altered by any change in the county boundaries under ch. 2, by the creation of any town, village, city or ward or, except as provided under sub. (3), by any municipal annexation, consolidation or detachment which occurs after the effective date of the redistricting act.

(3) Any noncontiguous part of a town (town island) in existence before May 9, 1972, and annexed by the surrounding city or village on or after May 9, 1972, shall become a part of the assembly district to which the surrounding city or village territory belongs. If such island territory was situated on the boundary between 2 or more assembly districts, it shall become a part of the adjacent assembly district having the lowest population according to the federal census upon which the redistricting act is based.

History: 1971 c. 304; 1971 c. 336 s. 3; 1973 c. 112; 1979 c. 260.

4.01 First senate district. The combination of the 1st, 2nd and 3rd assembly districts, as further set forth in this section and as shown in the following segment of the official 1970 census map of this state, shall constitute the first senate district.
