1 AN ACT to renumber and amend 48.68 (4) and 50.03 (4) (g); and to create 48.66
2 (2r), 48.68 (4) (b), 50.03 (3) (cm), 50.03 (4) (g) 2., 50.032 (1m) (c), 50.032 (1m) (d), 3 50.032 (1m) (e), 50.033 (1m) (c), 50.033 (1m) (d) and 50.033 (1m) (e) of the 4 statutes; relating to: community oversight of residential care centers for 5 children and youth, group homes, community-based residential facilities, and 6 adult family homes.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, the Department of Health and Family Services (DHFS) licenses certain facilities for the care and treatment in the community of certain children and adults. Those facilities include residential care centers for children and youth (residential care centers), which are facilities operated by child welfare agencies for the care of four or more children, group homes, which may provide care for five to eight children, and community-based residential facilities (CBRFs), which may provide care for five or more adults. Under current law, DHFS or a county department of human services, social services, community programs, or developmental disabilities services (county department) also licenses or certifies adult family homes, which may provide care for three or four adults.

Currently, within ten working days after receipt of an application for initial licensure of a residential care center, group home, or CBRF, DHFS must notify the city, town, or village planning commission, or other appropriate city, town, or village agency if there is no planning commission, of receipt of the application and request that the planning commission or agency send to DHFS, within 30 days, a description of any specific hazards that may affect the health and safety of the residents of the residential care center, group home, or CBRF. DHFS may not grant a license to a residential care center, group home, or CBRF until the 30-day period has expired or until DHFS receives the response of the planning commission or agency, whichever is sooner. In issuing a license, DHFS must give full consideration to any hazards determined by the planning commission or agency.

Currently, before initial licensure of a residential care center, group home, or CBRF, the applicant for licensure must make a good faith effort to establish a community advisory committee consisting of representatives of the proposed residential care center, group home, or CBRF, the neighborhood in which the proposed residential care center, group home, or CBRF is to be located, and a local governmental unit. A community advisory committee must provide a forum for communication for persons interested in the proposed residential care center, group home, or CBRF and, after licensure, continues in existence to make recommendations regarding the impact of the residential care center, group home, or CBRF on the neighborhood.

This bill requires DHFS or a licensing or certifying county department, within ten working days after receipt of an application for initial licensure or certification of an adult family home, to notify the city, town, or village planning commission, or other appropriate city, town, or village agency if there is no planning commission, of receipt of the application and request that the planning commission or agency send to DHFS or the licensing or certifying county department, within 30 days, a description of any specific hazards that may affect the health and safety of the residents of the adult family home. DHFS or a licensing or certifying county department may not issue a license or certification to an adult family home until the 30-day period has expired or until DHFS or the licensing or certifying county department receives the response of the planning commission or agency, whichever is sooner. In issuing a license or certification, DHFS or a licensing or certifying county department must give full consideration to any hazards determined by the planning commission or agency.

The bill also requires an applicant for initial licensure or certification of a residential care center, group home, CBRF, or adult family home (community living arrangement) to establish a community advisory committee, consisting of representatives of the proposed community living arrangement, the neighborhood in which the proposed community living arrangement is to be located, and a local governmental unit, for the purpose of providing a forum for communication for persons interested in the proposed community living arrangement and, after licensure or certification, making recommendations regarding the impact of the community living arrangement on the neighborhood. The bill specifies that the members of the community advisory committee who are representatives of the proposed community living arrangement are appointed by the proposed community living arrangement and that the members of the committee who are representatives of the neighborhood and of the city, village, or town are appointed by the mayor or city manager, village president, or town board chairperson or his or her designee. In addition, the bill requires that a majority of the members of a community advisory committee be representatives of the neighborhood and of the city, village, or town.

Moreover, the bill requires a community living arrangement, when it applies for initial licensure or certification, for continuance of a license or certification, or for approval of a change in the client group served, to notify the community advisory committee of submission of the application and to request the community advisory committee to inform DHFS or the licensing or certifying county department, within 30 days after the date of the notice, about any issues that the community advisory committee may have concerning the general operations of the community living arrangement. Under the bill, DHFS or a licensing or certifying county department must consider any issues raised by the community advisory committee and provide a written response to the community advisory committee addressing those issues before issuing or continuing a license or approving a change in client group served and may not issue or continue a license or certification or approve a change in client group served until that 30-day period has expired or until receiving the response of the community advisory committee, whichever is sooner.

For further information see the state and local fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
