Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Currently, unemployment insurance (UI) benefits may not be denied to an otherwise eligible individual because the individual is enrolled in a vocational training course or a basic education course that is a prerequisite to such training (“approved training”) under certain conditions. A claimant who is enrolled in approved training is not subject to certain benefit denials or reductions that would otherwise preclude the claimant from claiming UI benefits while enrolled in approved training.

This bill creates a pilot program of special occupational training that is not approved training. The bill directs the Department of Workforce Development

SENATE BILL 332

(DWD) to designate three areas served by local workforce development boards in which the program shall be offered. Under the bill, DWD must offer the program throughout each designated area. Under the bill, the training consists of voluntary placements of UI claimants of up to six weeks for periods of not more than 40 hours per week with employers who elect to offer the training directly. A trainee may not be an employee of the employer offering the training. The bill directs DWD to accept applications from employers who wish to offer the training and to place claimants who wish to participate in available openings. On the application, an employer must affirm that it currently has one job opening for each training participant that it seeks in a position that a successful participant would potentially qualify to fill. Under the bill, no claimant may receive more than two placements during a benefit year (period during which benefits are payable). In addition, no claimant may receive a placement for any period that includes a week beginning after the end of the first 26 weeks of the claimant's benefit year. The bill provides that a claimant who receives special occupational training is not disqualified from receiving UI benefits solely as a result of participating in the training. The bill requires each claimant to maintain eligibility for UI benefits while receiving special occupational training, except that a claimant is exempt from the requirement under the UI law to search for work for each week the claimant receives at least 20 hours of occupational training under the program and is not required to accept other suitable work under the UI law if there is a reasonable expectation that the claimant will receive a job offer from the employer providing the training. Under the bill, a claimant who participates in special occupational training receives a stipend of $75 from DWD for each week in which the claimant participates in the training. The bill appropriates general purpose revenue to make the payments. The bill also provides that a claimant who is participating in special occupational training is considered an employee of the employer providing the training for purposes of worker's compensation benefits.

The program created by the bill sunsets two years after the bill's effective date. The bill directs DWD to report to the legislature and the governor no later than 22 months after the bill's effective date concerning the effectiveness of the program and DWD's recommendations for extension of the program or changes to the program to enhance its effectiveness.
