Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Current law prohibits a person from placing objects, drugs, or other substances in candy or other liquid or solid edibles with the intent to cause bodily harm to another person. A person who violates this prohibition may be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned for not more than five years or both.

This bill prohibits a person from placing blood, saliva, urine, feces, or other bodily substances in candy or other liquid or solid edibles with the intent that the blood, saliva, urine, feces, or other bodily substances be consumed by another person without that other person's knowledge. The bill does not require that a person who violates this prohibition have the intent to cause bodily harm to another person. A person who violates the prohibition created in the bill may be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned for not more than nine months or both. The bill also provides that a person may be convicted and punished for violating either the prohibition in current law or the prohibition created in the bill, but not both.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:
