Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Currently, state employees receive health care coverage through plans offered by the Group Insurance Board. This bill requires the Group Insurance Board, beginning on January 1, 2006, to offer a health care coverage option to state employees that consists of a high-deductible health plan and the establishment of a health savings account. Federal law authorizes the establishment of health savings accounts, under which individuals may establish health savings accounts into which they and their employers can make federal tax-exempt contributions that can be used for the payment of certain qualified medical expenses. Annual contribution limits are established under federal law and are based on the individual's status, eligibility, and health plan coverage. As a condition of establishing a health savings account, an individual must be covered under a high-deductible health plan. The specific requirements of high-deductible health plans are provided in federal law, but generally require the payment of a certain minimum deductible and the expenditure of certain out-of-pocket expenses before an individual's medical services are covered under the plan. The bill also requires that the state make contributions into each employee's health savings account that are equal to the difference between the state's share of the annual premium cost of the high-deductible health plan and the state's share of the annual premium cost of the lowest tier plan that is available in the county in which the employee resides.
