Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Generally, under current law, no person may practice professional engineering in this state or convey the impression that the person is a professional engineer unless the person is registered with the Examining Board of Architects, Landscape Architects, Professional Engineers, Designers, and Land Surveyors (examining board). Currently, an applicant for registration as a professional engineer must submit satisfactory evidence of one of the following: 1) graduation from an engineering course of not less than four years plus a record of four or more years of experience indicating the applicant is competent to be placed in charge of engineering work; 2) a record of eight or more years of experience indicating the applicant is competent to be placed in charge of engineering work; 3) a record of 12 or more years of experience indicating the applicant is competent to practice engineering; or 4) graduation from an engineering course of not less than four years and eight years of experience indicating the applicant is competent to practice engineering. Current law provides that graduation from an engineering course at a school approved by the examining board is equivalent to four years of experience, that each year of engineering study completed at such a school is equivalent to one year of experience, and that graduation from an engineering course at a school not approved by the examining board is equivalent to two years of experience.

Under this bill, an applicant for registration as a professional engineer must submit satisfactory evidence of graduation from an approved engineering course of not less than four years and a record of four or more years of experience indicating the applicant is competent to be placed in charge of engineering work.

Currently, an applicant may not be registered as a professional engineer unless the applicant passes an examination that includes questions on the design needs of people with physical disabilities and the relevant statutes and codes, except that an applicant who applies on the basis of graduation from an engineering course of not less than four years and eight years of experience is not required to pass an examination. Under the bill, all applicants are required to pass an examination, but the examination is not required to include questions on the design needs of people with disabilities or the relevant statutes or codes.

Current law requires the examining board to make an applicant's examination papers available to the applicant for review for one year after the examination. Also under current law, an applicant may request a review of the applicant's examination, and the examining board must provide the reasons for a failing grade. The bill deletes the retention and review requirements.

For further information see the state fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
