1 limitations on the authority of political subdivisions to regulate rental units,
2 historic properties, and signs; prohibiting local governmental units from
3 imposing real property purchase or residential real property occupancy
4 requirements; creating a criminal penalty; and making an appropriation.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

This bill creates a right-to-cure for certain tenants for certain breaches; makes remaining on property without consent criminal trespass and provides for the disposition of personal property left in rental property by a trespasser; authorizes a landlord to terminate the tenancy of a tenant based on criminal activity committed by the tenant or a member of the tenant's household; limits the authority of political subdivisions to regulate rental units, historic properties, and signs; prohibits a local governmental unit from making the purchase or transfer of real property or the occupancy of residential real property contingent on whether a purchaser or other transferee takes certain actions with respect to the property; eliminates a statutory exception for certain local ordinances having automatic sprinkler requirements that are stricter than the state multifamily dwelling code; and allows a towing company to collect charges if it makes a good faith effort to notify law enforcement.

Local government

Under current law, a city, village, town, or county (political subdivision) may regulate places, structures, or objects with special character, historic interest, aesthetic interest, or other significant value. A political subdivision may also designate historic landmarks and establish historic districts and may regulate the historic landmarks or the properties within a historic district for historic preservation purposes.

Under this bill, a political subdivision may not designate a property as a historic landmark without the consent of the owner. Also under this bill, a political subdivision may not require or prohibit any action by an owner of a property related to preservation of the historic or aesthetic value of the property without the consent of the owner.

This bill also limits the authority of political subdivisions in several respects, including:

1. Political subdivisions may not enact an ordinance that requires that a rental unit be inspected without a showing of good cause or be certified or registered
2. Political subdivisions may not charge a fee for an inspection other than an inspection based on a complaint from a tenant alleging a violation of the local housing code.
3. Political subdivisions may not impose an occupancy or transfer of tenancy fee on a rental unit.
4. Political subdivisions may not impose a requirement or restriction based on the informational content of a sign that is not imposed on all signs.

ASSEMBLY BILL 568

5. Political subdivisions may not enact an ordinance that requires a landlord to obtain a license, certification, or registration in order to own, manage, or operate a residential rental property unless the ordinance applies uniformly to all residential properties, including owner-occupied properties.

Under current law, a local governmental unit is prohibited from requiring a real property owner to take certain actions with respect to the property or pay a related fee; to show compliance with taking certain actions with respect to the property; or to pay a fee for failing to take certain actions with respect to the property before the owner may sell, refinance, or transfer title to the property; at the time of selling, refinancing, or transferring title to the property; or within a certain period of time after selling, refinancing, or transferring title to the property. A local governmental unit may, however, require a real property owner to take certain actions with respect to the property not in connection with selling, refinancing, or transferring title to the property. The definition of “actions with respect to the property” includes such actions as having an inspection made by an employee or agent of the local governmental unit; making improvements or repairs; removing junk or debris; paving or painting; and installing fixtures or other items.

This bill does all of the following:

1. Prohibits a local governmental unit from requiring a person who is a prospective purchaser of, or person who will take title to, real property to take certain actions with respect to the property, as defined under current law, or pay a related fee; to show compliance with taking certain actions with respect to the property; or to pay a fee for failing to take certain actions with respect to the property before the person may complete the purchase of, or take title to, the property; at the time of completing the purchase of, or taking title to, the property; or within a certain time after completing the purchase of, or taking title to, the property.

2. Prohibits a local governmental unit from requiring a purchaser of, or transferee of title to, residential real property to take certain actions with respect to the property, as defined under current law, or pay a related fee; to show compliance with taking certain actions with respect to the property; or to pay a fee for failing to take certain actions with respect to the property before the purchaser or transferee may take occupancy of the property; at the time of taking occupancy of the property; or within a certain time after taking occupancy of the property.

3. Provides that a local governmental unit may require a real property owner to take certain actions with respect to the property not in connection with purchasing or taking occupancy of the property.

4. Provides that any ordinance, resolution, or policy currently in effect that is inconsistent with the prohibitions in the bill does not apply and is unenforceable.

5. Provides that the prohibitions in the bill and under current law on local governmental units do not affect a local governmental unit’s responsibility, authority, or ability to enforce a state or federal requirement that does any of the things that a local governmental unit is prohibited from doing in the bill or under current law.

ASSEMBLY BILL 568Automatic sprinklers in multifamily dwellings

Under current law, the Department of Safety and Professional Services (DSPS) administers the multifamily dwelling code, including requirements concerning automatic sprinklers. Currently, a city, village, or town generally may not enact or enforce an ordinance that does not conform to the multifamily dwelling code or that is contrary to an order of DSPS enforcing the multifamily dwelling code, except that certain preexisting sprinkler ordinances that are stricter than the multifamily dwelling code may remain in effect.

This bill repeals that exception for preexisting stricter sprinkler ordinances. The bill also provides that any contract between a city, village, or town pursuant to such an ordinance is unenforceable.

Towing vehicles from private property

Under current law, before any vehicle is removed from private property by a towing service, the towing service must notify a local law enforcement agency of the make, model, vehicle identification number, and registration plate number of the vehicle and the location to which the vehicle will be removed. A towing service that fails to comply with this requirement may not collect any charges for the removal and storage of the vehicle. Under this bill, a towing service that makes a good faith effort to comply with the notification requirement may collect charges for the removal and storage of the vehicle.

Under current law, the Department of Transportation is required to promulgate rules establishing reasonable charges for removal of vehicles from private property and guidelines for notifying law enforcement. Under this bill, these charges and guidelines apply only when no citation was issued.

Terminating tenancies

Under current law, a tenant's tenancy may be terminated by the landlord for, among other things, nonpayment of rent, committing waste, or breaching a covenant or condition of the tenant's rental agreement, or if the property owner receives notice from a law enforcement agency or the office of the district attorney that a nuisance exists in the rental unit because the property is being used for drug-related purposes or criminal gang-related purposes. Under this bill, except for a tenant who is the victim of the criminal activity, a landlord may terminate the tenancy of a tenant, without giving the tenant an opportunity to remedy the default, by giving the tenant notice if the tenant, a member of the tenant's household, or a guest or other invitee of the tenant or of a member of the tenant's household does any of the following: 1) engages in criminal activity that threatens the health, safety, or right to peaceful enjoyment of the premises by other tenants; 2) engages in criminal activity that threatens the health, safety, or right to peaceful enjoyment of their residences by persons residing in the immediate vicinity of the premises; 3) engages in criminal activity that threatens the health or safety of the landlord or an agent or employee of the landlord; or 4) engages in drug-related criminal activity on or near the premises. It is not necessary that the individual committing the criminal activity or drug-related criminal activity has been arrested for or convicted of the criminal activity or drug-related criminal activity.

ASSEMBLY BILL 568

The notice that the landlord gives the tenant must require the tenant to vacate on or before a date at least five days after the giving of the notice and must state the basis for the notice and that the tenant may contest the termination of tenancy in an eviction action. If the tenant does contest the termination of tenancy, the landlord must prove the allegation in the notice by the greater preponderance of the credible evidence. The bill defines drug-related criminal activity as criminal activity that involves the manufacture, possession, use, or distribution of a controlled substance, which is defined in current law.

Under current law, a landlord may terminate the tenancy of a month-to-month tenant who commits waste, violates certain statutory tenant duties, or breaches a condition of the lease, other than by failing to pay rent (commits a qualifying breach) by providing the tenant with a notice that requires the tenant to vacate the premises within 14 days. Current law does not provide a landlord of a month-to-month tenant the option to terminate such a tenancy by providing a notice that requires the tenant to cure the qualifying breach or vacate the premises.

Under the bill, a month-to-month tenancy is terminated if 1) a tenant commits a qualifying breach and 2) the landlord provides the tenant with a notice that requires the tenant to cure the qualifying breach or vacate the premises and the tenant fails to comply with the notice. The procedure is identical to the procedure described below for a landlord of a year-to-year tenant.

Under current law, a landlord may terminate the tenancy of a year-to-year tenant or a tenant under a lease for a term of one year or less if 1) the tenant commits a qualifying breach and 2) the landlord provides the tenant with a notice that requires the tenant to cure the qualifying breach or vacate the premises and the tenant fails to comply with the notice. Current law specifies that a tenant may comply with the landlord's notice by taking reasonable steps to remedy the qualifying breach or by making a bona fide reasonable offer to pay the landlord all damages associated with the qualifying breach. Current law also provides that if the tenant commits another qualifying breach within one year of receiving such a notice, the landlord may terminate the tenant's tenancy by providing the tenant with a notice to vacate the premises within 14 days if the landlord provides the notice before the tenant cures the qualifying breach. This bill eliminates the condition that the landlord provide the subsequent notice to vacate before the tenant remedies the qualifying breach.

Trespass

Under current law, a person who enters into the dwelling of another without the permission of a person who is lawfully on the premises may be guilty of criminal trespass to a dwelling, a Class A misdemeanor. Under the bill, a person may be guilty of criminal trespass to a dwelling if he or she enters or remains in a dwelling without the permission of a person who is lawfully on the premises, or of the owner of the property if no one is lawfully present there, regardless of whether the dwelling is currently occupied. The bill requires law enforcement agencies to establish policies that require officers to remove trespassers from dwellings.

ASSEMBLY BILL 568Disposing of personal property left by trespasser

Current law does not address what happens to the personal property of a trespasser that is left behind after the trespasser leaves or is removed from residential rental property. This bill provides that, after a trespasser leaves or is removed from residential rental property, a landlord must hold any personal property left by the trespasser for seven days, during which time the trespasser may request its return. After that time, the landlord may dispose of the personal property in any manner that the landlord determines is appropriate.
