

CHAPTER 163.

Abolition of office of police justice.

Jurisdiction of justices.

Docket, &c., of present police justice.

Repeal.

Powers of marshal abridged.

SECTION 4. The office of police justice of said city is hereby abolished, and the justices of the peace of said city shall have and may severally exercise the powers heretofore exercised by said police justice, as well as the powers of justices of the peace of the several towns of this state: provided, that said justice shall have jurisdiction coextensive with the county only in which they may be elected. The present police justice shall deliver his docket and papers over to the nearest justice of the peace in said city, who is hereby authorized to carry into execution all judgments entered in said docket, and to give certified copies of papers and records in the same manner and with like effect as said police justice could do.

SECTION 5. So much of chapter seven of said act as is inconsistent with the provisions of this act, is hereby repealed.

SECTION 6. The marshal of said city shall have no right or power to serve or execute any writ or process in any suit or proceeding, either civil or criminal, except cases to which said city shall be a party.

SECTION 7. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

Approved March 30, 1861.
