

CHAPTER 111.

[Published April 13, 1863.]

AN ACT to dispense with summoning a grand and petit jury for the April term of the circuit court in and for the county of Adams.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. No grand or petit jury shall hereafter be drawn or summoned, in the county of Adams, for the April term of the circuit court, to be held in said county, except as hereinafter provided. Jury to be dispensed with.

SECTION 2. All recognizances requiring any person to appear at the next term of the circuit court to be held in said county, to answer an indictment or indictments to be preferred against such person, shall be construed to mean at the October term of said court then next to be held after the taking of such recognizance. Construction.

SECTION 3. If any criminal or civil action pending in said court, shall be ready for trial at any term of said court when no jury shall have been summoned, the judge, on motion of either party to any such action, shall order a special jury summoned and empaneled for the trial of such action: provided, the party demanding such jury, at the time of making such motion, shall deposit with the clerk of said court six dollars, to be paid to such jury, which sum shall be in full compensation for their services in the trial of such action; but in all cases where a jury is empaneled under the provisions of this act, for the trial of a criminal action, the jurors shall receive the same compensation and be paid in the same manner as is provided by law in like cases. When jury may be summoned.

SECTION 4. In case the party moving for the jury shall be the prevailing party in the action, he [the judge] may tax the jury fees against the losing party, the same as other costs and disbursements. Jury fees to be advanced.

SECTION 5. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication. May be taxed against losing par. 5.
