

CHAPTER 362.

[Published May 7, 1863.]

AN ACT to incorporate the Janesville woolen-manufacturing company.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

Corporators.

SECTION 1. Michael McKey, Maurice C. Smith, J. Bodwell Doe, Thomas M. Lynch, John Mitchell, J. Bates and A. Hyatt Smith, and their successors and assigns, shall be a body politic and corporate, and shall be known as the "Janesville manufacturing company," and in and by that name shall have succession, and may contract and be contracted with, sue and be sued, implead and be impleaded, and shall be possessed of all the powers necessary to the carrying out of the objects of this charter, which are expressed and declared to be the manufacturing and sale of goods of wool, flax, hemp or cotton, or of any one or more or all of these commodities, or in part of any or more, or all of them.

Name and powers.

Capital.

SECTION 2. The capital of said company shall be one hundred thousand dollars, with the privilege of increasing the same to two hundred thousand dollars, and shall be divided into shares of one hundred dollars each, which shall be transferable on the books of said company.

Directors.

SECTION 3. The directors herein named shall hold their offices until their successors are elected. When twenty-five thousand dollars of the capital stock is subscribed, they shall call a meeting of the subscribers to said stock, who shall elect a board of seven directors, which board shall elect a president, secretary and treasurer; and upon such election, this company shall be deemed to be fully organized and authorized to commence and continue the business of manufacturing and preparing to manufacture as aforesaid; and said company, for the purpose of carrying out the objects of its creation through its officers, may exercise all the powers and rights of a natural person.

When deemed fully organized.

Annual election of directors, officers, &c.

SECTION 4. The directors of said company shall be annually elected on a day to be fixed by said directors, and one of their number shall be chosen president, and shall also annually appoint a treasurer and secretary, and such other officers as may be convenient for the business of said company, who may or may not be of their number, and may remove the same at pleasure.

SECTION 5. The said company shall hold no more real estate than is necessary for the convenient conducting of their business.

Approved April 2, 1863.

CHAPTER 363.

[Published May 7, 1863.]

AN ACT to amend chapter ninety-seven of the private and local laws of 1862, entitled "an act to authorize John A. Daniels to keep and maintain a ferry across the Mississippi river."

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section one of chapter ninety-seven of Amendment: the private and local laws of the state of Wisconsin, for the year (A. D.) 1862, is hereby amended, as follows: The words "up and" are hereby stricken out of the last line of said section, and the following words are inserted after the word "river," in said last line of said section: "and up said river from said point, to the mouth of the Trempealeau river, in the county of Trempealeau."

SECTION 2. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved April 2, 1863.
