CHAPTER 333.

AN ACT to amend section 4, of chapter 342, laws of 1883, relating to suppression of vagabondage.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. To amend section 4, of chapter 342, laws of 1883, by adding after the word, "commissioners," in the fifth line of said section, the words, "and police justices in incorporated villages," so that said section, when amended, shall read as follows: Section 4. For the apprehension of any person or persons, charged with being a tramp, under the provisions of this act, the judges of the several courts of record, in vacation as well as in term time, court commissioners and police justices, in incorporated villages, are hereby authorized to issue process to carry into effect the provisions of this act, and all proceedings for the arrest and examination of offenders shall be had and conducted under the provisions of chapter 195, of the revised statutes, except that no police justices in incorporated villages issuing such warrant shall have jurisdiction to try the same.

Suppression of vagabondage.

SECTION 5(2). This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

NOTE BY THE SECRETARY OF STATE.—The foregoing act having been presented to the governor for his approval, and not having been returned by him to the house of the legislature in which it originated, within the time prescribed by the constitution of the state, has become a law without his approval.

ERNST G. TIMME,

April 7, 1885.

Secretary of State.
