

expected from his choice, and, secondly, whether these will meet his needs with respect to (1) the control of Brucellosis; and (2) possible requirements for sale of animals and milk.

For the owner who is primarily interested in controlling abortions due to Brucellosis, Plan "B" can be considered an effective starting point from which to build a sound Brucellosis control program.

Should an owner who is operating under Plan "B" desire at some future date to receive the benefits of herd blood testing together with calfhood vaccination, he may make application to this department to transfer to Plan "A".

Also, in similar manner, an owner operating under Plan "A" may change to Plan "B" (calfhood vaccination alone), if desired. The department urges, however, that an owner consider carefully before making such a decision, since to sacrifice the benefits of the agglutination test on herds already operating under this plan would be in many instances a definite step backward in the control of Brucellosis.

(2) Each such agreement shall continue in force and effect for a period of 3 years from the date of filing the petition. So far as applicable and not in conflict herewith, section 95.26 shall apply to testing and vaccinating done and animals tested and vaccinated under this section.

(3) All of such agreements shall be and remain effective only within the amount which may, subsequent to the passage of this act, be appropriated for that purpose.
