Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, a motor vehicle operator who accidentally kills a deer on a highway may keep the carcass if he or she has it tagged by a conservation warden or a law enforcement officer who is designated by the department of natural resources (DNR) to tag such carcasses. This bill allows a person other than the motor vehicle operator to keep the carcass. The bill also allows the person claiming the carcass to give to a law enforcement officer or conservation warden his or her name and other identifying information. The person may remove the carcass if the officer or warden approves the removal and gives the person instructions for having the carcass tagged at a later time within the next 24 hours.

For further information see the state and local fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
