Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, no person may operate a school bus unless the person possesses an endorsement issued by the department of transportation (DOT) to operate school buses. DOT is required to issue a school bus endorsement to any applicant for the endorsement who is at least 18 years of age but not more than 70 years of age and who meets the stated requirements, including passing a physical examination. A school bus endorsement is valid for the eight-year duration of the person's operator's license. DOT may, but is not required to, issue a school bus endorsement to any person who is more than 70 years of age and who annually takes and passes a physical examination and satisfies the requirements required of younger school bus operators.

This bill requires each school bus operator under 70 years of age to submit to DOT, at least once every four years, proof that the person has passed a knowledge test and a driving skills test of his or her ability to safely operate a school bus. The bill requires school bus operators who are 70 or more years of age to submit proof of passing a knowledge test, driving skills test and physical exam every two years. The bill requires DOT to cancel the school bus endorsement of any person who fails to submit proof that he or she has passed the required tests.

Current law requires DOT to cancel the entire operator's license of a person who is more than 70 years of age, if the license is endorsed for the operation of school buses and the person fails to submit annual proof that he or she has passed a physical examination. This bill requires DOT to cancel only the endorsement, not the entire operator's license.
