Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, the department of health and family services (DHFS) must implement a statewide trauma system by July 1, 2002, and must seek the advice of the trauma advisory council in developing and implementing the system. The 13-member trauma advisory council terminates on July 1, 2002. Also under current law, DHFS must promulgate rules to develop and implement the system, including a method for classification of all hospitals as to their respective emergency care capabilities. These rules may not be submitted to the legislative council staff, as part of the rule-making process, until the joint committee on finance of the legislature first approves a report, prepared by DHFS and the trauma advisory council, on development and implementation of the statewide trauma system.

This bill extends the date for termination of the trauma advisory council to July 1, 2004; requires that confidential injury data collected under the state trauma system be used only for confidential review relating to performance improvements in the system; requires that DHFS, in developing the system, develop regional trauma advisory councils; and eliminates the requirement that the joint committee on finance approve a report on the system before DHFS submits proposed rules on the system to legislative council staff. In addition, the bill transfers $185,000 in fiscal year 2001-02 and $500,000 in fiscal year 2002-03 of federal grant moneys from the department of transportation to DHFS to provide program revenue project positions and fund expenses of and grants to regional advisory trauma councils.
