Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Current law prohibits a person from intentionally absconding without paying for taxicab service or without paying for beverage, food, lodging, or other service or accommodation at a hotel, motel, campground, boarding or lodging house, or restaurant. If a person is convicted of violating this prohibition, he or she may be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned for not more than nine months or both, except that the maximum term of imprisonment increases to five years if the value of the service or accommodation exceeds $1,000. In addition, current law provides for a special civil action for victims of this crime. Using this special civil action, a victim may recover the value of the service or accommodation involved in the crime, any other property damage resulting from the crime, and limited exemplary damages and attorney fees.

This bill prohibits a person from intentionally absconding from a service station, garage, or other place where gasoline or diesel fuel is offered for sale at retail without paying for the gasoline or diesel fuel. A person who violates this prohibition may be subject to a forfeiture (a civil monetary penalty) of not more than $200. The bill also provides that in addition to the forfeiture: 1) for a first or second offense a court may suspend the person's motor vehicle operating privileges for not more than six months; 2) for a third offense the court must suspend the person's operating privileges for six months; and 3) for a fourth or subsequent offense, the court must suspend the person's operating privileges for one year. Finally, with certain modifications, the bill extends the special civil action that covers crimes for absconding for services or accommodations to cover offenses involving absconding without paying for gasoline or diesel fuel.
