3 the exception.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Currently, federal law provides limits on the maximum number of hours within certain given time periods that motor carriers may permit their commercial motor vehicle drivers to drive. Federal law also provides requirements related to the records that must be made and maintained of these driver hours of service. There is an exception in federal law to these hours of service requirements during planting and harvesting periods for drivers who are transporting certain agricultural commodities or farm supplies within a 150-mile radius of the source. Under the exception, states are allowed to designate the planting and harvesting period. Under current Wisconsin law, a Department of Transportation rule provides that the planting and harvesting season applicable in Wisconsin is March 15 through December 15 of each year.

This bill provides that the applicable planting and harvesting period for Wisconsin is January 1 to December 31.
