JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 4.

Relating to the services and death of Senator George E. Scott.

In the month of November, 1915, the people of Wisconsin learned with profound regret of the death of Senator George F. Scott at his home in Prairie Farm, in Barron county. Senator Scott's career was one of uncommon usefulness, and his death marked the end of a successful life devoted unselfishly to the cause of humanity and his state. He was a Wisconsin product, born at Durand, in Pepin county, July 5, 1860, where he received a common school education. He was a farmer, miller and a merchant, and as such was eminently successful, but though his business interests were great, and his success even greater, Senator Scott, with the public spirit which characterized the man, unselfishly devoted a great portion of his time, both as a private citizen and a public servant, toward the betterment of his fellowmen and the public welfare. He was elected to the assembly in 1904, 1906 and 1908, and to the senate in 1910, and in 1914, and was chairman of the important committee on finance in the last two sessions; therefore, be it Resolved by the senate, the assembly concurring, That as a mark of high esteem and respect for him, and in recognition of his service to his community and to his state, this resolution be spread upon the journal of each house, and that a copy thereof, duly attested by the presiding officers and the chief clerks of the senate and assembly be transmitted to the family of the deceased.

JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 5.

Relating to the death of Senator Victor Linley.

Victor Linley, a member of the Wisconsin senate of 1911 and 1913, has died since the last meeting of this legislature. He was born at Atchison, Kansas, on September 5, 1865, and came to Wisconsin in 1891, where he took up the practice of law in the city of Superior. He served the city of Superior as its mayor from 1906 to 1908 and left the service of the city to go into the service of his state. He was elected as state senator in 1910, and was faithful in his labor for the welfare of the people of Wisconsin, always engaged in an effort to improve their moral well-being. As the sponsor of the Linley law, his name is known throughout the state and beyond it as that of a man who fought for high standards of morality and a safe environment for the coming generation. In his death the people of the city of Superior and the state of Wisconsin have lost a valued and faithful servant.

Resolved by the senate, the assembly concurring, That this resolution be spread upon the journal of each house, and that an engrossed copy thereof, duly attested by the presiding officers and the chief clerks of the senate and assembly, be transmitted to the family of the deceased.
