SECTION 2. Whenever the county board of any county shall heretofore have authorized the issuance of the bonds of such county under the provisions of sections 1317m—12 or 1317m—12a of the statutes, and for either or both of the purposes mentioned in said section 1317m—12, failure of such board to first pass a resolution designating the specified improvements to be made and the amount to be expended on each such specific improvement, or failure of such board to have been legally convened in a special session at which session all members of the county board were present, shall in no way affect the validity of such bonds, but the same when issued shall be legal, valid, and binding obligations of such county.
