RULING OF THE CHAIR

On Thursday, October 23, Senator Chilsen raised a point of order on the procedure to be followed and for what purpose a member may be recognized by the chair after the current question has been moved. Senate Rule 79 states:

“On motion for the previous question, and prior to the ordering of the main question, one call of the senate shall be in order; but after proceedings under such call shall have been once dispensed with, or after a majority shall have ordered the main question, no call shall be in order prior to the decision of such question.”

Inasmuch as Senate Rule 76 was amended to include the current question the chair rules a member may be recognized for the purpose of moving a call in case no call exists on the main question. The chair could recognize a member for no other purpose at this point. However, after the decision on putting the question has been made, a (one) motion to adjourn is in order under the rules because a motion to adjourn has priority over the question itself.
