GOVERNOR'S VETO MESSAGE

December 3, 1971.

To the Honorable, the Assembly:

I am today returning without my approval Assembly Bill 784, a bill relating to intergovernmental cooperation.

JOURNAL OF THE ASSEMBLY

If signed, this bill could result in the indiscriminate proliferation of planning agencies to the detriment of existing or proposed comprehensive planning programs in Wisconsin.

Presently, Chapter 66.30 provides that local units of government may join on an inter- or intra-state basis for planning which is collateral to the organization, implementation and administration of specific projects. My veto of Assembly Bill 734 will not change that capability.

However, I am deeply concerned that the Head of the Lakes Council of Governments and the Rock Valley Metropolitan Council continue planning activities until such time as their functions can best be related to overall regional concerns.

Close cooperation of all parties involved will ensure that the veto of Assembly Bill 734 will not, in and of itself affect these organizations. I have conferred with officials of the Department of Local Affairs and Development and the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development who have assured me of their cooperation and continued interest in this effort.

I am directing the Secretary of DLAD to use every means possible to assure that these organizations continue to plan within their present geographic boundaries. Also, I have directed the Secretary to seek legislation, to be introduced in the January session of the legislature, specifically authorizing the continuation of these inter-state agencies and their current planning activities until further study can be made of the best possible method of relating common problems and functions in inter-state areas to regional concerns. This legislation will have a high priority on my list of legislative proposals.

In the course of deliberations surrounding this bill, it has become apparent that the entire range of local, metropolitan and regional planning statutes fails to meet today's problems.

Accordingly, we must devise a planning framework and formulate an approach to improve Wisconsin's comprehensive planning laws. Answers to important, legitimate questions about the adequacy of Chapter 66.945 and all other relevant chapters will be sought by this administration.

JOURNAL OF THE ASSEMBLY

Cooperating with the Executive Office in this process will be the Department of Local Affairs and Development. However, suggestions and recommendations from those outside state government are essential if the best possible revisions are to be formulated.

Because it would be unwise to sign legislation that would make implementation of those revisions more difficult, I do not feel it would be in the public interest to sign Assembly Bill 734 at this time.

Respectfully submitted,

PATRICK J. LUCEY,
Governor.
